VALEDICTORY

MYRTIE L. KEMPF

"Out of school life into life's school:" This is the motto chosen by the class of 1938. Tonight, we gather for the last time as a class, standing on the threshold between those two schools. What a great occasion for us, who are still so young, to step across that threshold.

Tomorrow we shall have taken that step. We shall be alumni of Tecumseh High School; happy with all the delightful memories of our school days together; confident in our ability to take our various places in the world.

For the past twelve years we have gone to school, working and studying side by side. Our parents and teachers have directed us and guided us. They have done everything in their power to help us get the right start in life and find suitable fields in which we may advance our talents. We hadn't quite realized or appreciated all that these people have done for us until the thought of Commencement crept into our minds. In time of trouble we have always had them to rely on. Now we have reached the point where we must depend on ourselves. Our preparation is over. We must test ourselves.

We all regret that we can no longer be a part of this school and take a lead in the various school activities. At the same time we are anxious to prove ourselves efficient, capable citizens. Tomorrow, we go out into the world, some of us to work in our chosen fields, others of us to attend higher institutions of learning, but all of us with the desire for worthwhile achievement.

Finally, speaking in behalf of the entire class, I want to thank you—parents, teachers, and friends—for your sacrifices, patience, and guidance, in giving us the right start in life. May we, the class of 1938, fulfill your hopes and expectations, and prove to you by our future lives that your guidance and faith in us has been justified.

SALUTATORY

JACK LARSEN

Fellow classmates, dear parents, and friends: We are met here for the annual commencement exercises of Tecumseh High School. We of the class of 1938 will shortly receive little folders certifying that we have satisfactorily completed the prescribed high school course. A high school education has been likened to a ladder—a means to reach high places. We have completed our ladders; tonight we admire the work. Alone we could have accomplished little. You built the workshop where we toiled. You furnished us with the best tools and supervision. You helped us choose our lumber straight and strong. Your care, and guidance, and love have been of infinite value to all of us. We thank you one and all. The adjective does not exist which can describe the depth of our gratitude. Welcome, parents, teachers, and friends—you who have stood by us in joy or sorrow, in doubt and uncertainty. It is gratifying that you have come to share with us the experience of commencement.

Tomorrow we shall have entered life's school. We shall take our ladders and lean them against the most stubborn obstacles we can find, and then, testing the first rung, we shall start the long climb to the small bright room at the top. Some of the ladders may crumble, some of the rungs may break, some of us perhaps will reach the top—no matter, tonight we rejoice, we are leaving school life. We are graduating from high school. What does that mean? It means that we are part of more than a million boys and girls who are this month graduating from high school. For each of us here on the platform this evening there are seven other boys and girls who entered school with us, but who, because of some misfortune, have been unable to continue their education. Graduation means that we are entering life's school with advantages such as only one out of every eight children in America has been able to secure. Great things are expected of the privileged few.

It matters little what marks we have received in Latin, chemistry, or history. What really counts is whether we have learned to think and to study, whether we have developed leadership and habits of good citizenship. We must consider our education as a means, not an end. Those of you who have visited one of our great metropolitan airports have seen great airliners take off and land. These planes climb to heights which no ladder could ever reach; and yet, when one wishes to board one of these modern wonders, a small chromium plated ladder, not fundamentally different from the ladders found in ancient cliff dwellings, is rolled out on the field and placed in front of the cabin door.

More than two hundred and fifty different courses are offered in the high schools of the nation. As many as these are, this number does not approach the number of separate and distinct careers which are open to the youth of today. The real value of school life is that it trains us to take full advantage of the opportunities of life's school.

CLASS POEM

AU REVOIR

We've come to say a parting word,
One I am sure you've often heard.
The soft crescendo of "Farewell"
Our gay and frivolous thoughts dispel.

But, classmates, we must now go far
To search beneath a guiding star
For all that's loyal, good and true,
And to the world our duty do.

To all who hold our honors high,
We wish each one a fond goodbye.

—ANN MCKEE

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

CLYDE MITCHELL

Classmates:

This day is one of the happiest and yet most sorrowful in our four years together in Tecumseh High School. We have achieved the first step in life—graduation. We have made many helpful friends whose friendship will be remembered in our future steps in life. You have bestowed upon me the honor of being your president for the past three years. I wish to thank you for the cooperation you have given during this time, and I know if you work together in the future, as well as we have in the past, there will be no obstacle in your life that you will not be able to overcome. I present the one emotion which is the strongest in my heart. It is the appreciation to our parents, friends, and teachers who have made it possible for us to be able to take our first step in life. We now come to the emotion which is the hardest for me to express. It is the parting time when we must take our place in "life's school." I sincerely hope that you will take a worthy one. And now, as my last official act, I wish you all the success in the world. Farewell, classmates, and may we meet again.

CLASS SONG

DOROTHY HALL

Tecumseh High, I honor thee
For all you've meant to the class and me.
For years we've laughed as well as worked,
And once in awhile our duty shirked.

And now we bid our fond good-byes
To teachers and classmates with many sighs;
And yet our task has just begun,
As ends four years of laughs and fun.

Chorus:

Farewell to you, Tecumseh High!
For you our colorful banners fly;
So here's to luck and great success,
But Tecumseh—we'll miss you, never-the-less!

CLASS HISTORY — 1938

MYRNA BUGBEE — PAULINE POWELL

It was on a sunny morning in September, nearly four years ago, that sixty-seven girls and boys left their homes to start on a long voyage on the Sea of Adventure, which, if successful, would bring them to anchor in Graduation Bay. The bark in which the cruise was to be taken was provided by a company known as the Board of Education. This company, assisted by the faculty and officers, guided the good ship, T. H. S., with greatest care. Our parents very unselfishly provided the means for securing our tickets.

Our encouraging pilot during our first year of the voyage was Mrs. Service, and we chose for our officers, sailors whom we thought were most capable of guiding us, with James Clark as captain, Kenneth Johnson assisting as first mate, and Clyde Mitchell, second mate, recording our first year course. Feeling the need of able seamen to represent us among the other crews, whose course we were humbly following, we chose Dorothy Hall and Myrtie Kempf.

We stopped on Allen Island, where everyone enjoyed our first class party. On this year's cruise some of our companions decided to explore Italy, and finally found themselves back with the ancients, working among conjugations and vocabularies. At the end of the first year the worst of these terrors had been overcome, and but few of the original party were missing.

At the beginning of our second year our crew was placed under the protection of Mr. Kleinheksel, and our sailor officers were: Clyde Mitchell, captain; Jack Larsen, first mate; Myrtie Kempf, second mate; and chose Dorothy Hall to again represent us among other crews. As we sailed on we sighted the Coast of Algebra, to us an unexplored country, and we decided to disembark. Strange roots appeared here, which some were unable to extract, so they decided to stay on land. The rest of the party, although saddened by the loss of their comrades, returned safely to the boat. In May, dressed in our sailor uniforms, we had the privilege of serving our advanced mariners at the Junior-Senior Reception. Again we rested in Vacation Bay during the heat of the summer.

We lost some of our comrades on our voyage, but we were still hopeful of reaching our destination, Graduation Bay. The third year's cruise was guided by our faithful pilot, Mr. Young; and we chose for our captain, Clyde Mitchell; first mate, Myrtie Kempf; second mate, Joyce Clark; our representatives among other crews being Jack Larsen and Pauline Powell. During this part of the voyage our play, "Wings of the Morning" was presented on the upper deck. Lastly we entertained our departing fellow-voyagers at the Junior-Senior Reception. This took place in the hold of our ship which was decorated as a Dutch garden.

At last we were the supreme rulers of the different crews, and having reached this coveted position by our seniority, we re-elected Mr. Young as our pilot; Clyde Mitchell again as captain; James Clark, as first mate; Joyce Clark, second mate; and our representatives, Myrtie Kempf and Pauline Powell. This year's crew presented on the upper deck, their play "Spring Fever," which was well received. The publication of our "Ship's Voyage," was our last important feature on board the good ship T. H. S. Thus the last year of our long voyage ends; and now we discover that we meet other problems as we become Freshmen in Life's Long Voyage.

"Four years we have faithfully aimed
Our banner to lift on high;
And thus in the great voyage of Life
To exalt our standard, we'll try."

Abbot, Kohler, Jones, Fisher, Rockwood,
Van Valkenburg, Bigelow.

STANDING, SECOND ROW—

Thielan, Sage, McClure, Curtiss, Clause,
Kempf, Calhoun, Lindsley, Calhoun, Poucher,
Jones, DesErmia, Wintersteen, Jones, Bailey,
Brown, Larsen.

SITTING—

Dickenson, DePuy, Camburn, Van Valkenburg, Wickwire, Satterthwaite, Aebersold, Wilson, Heidenreich, Mr. Camburn, Hall,
Brooks, Poucher, Seitz, Hayden, Francis, Harrington.

The officers of the band are: president, Dorothy Hall; vice-president, Ralph Cam-burn; secretary-treasurer, Myrtie Kempf; and director, Clare Camburn.

The band has had a very successful year, playing at the home football games and at one of the out-of-town games. They have also played at several assemblies, the P. T. A.,
and the D. A. R.

In February the six senior band members received letters. They were Dorothy Hall,
Jean Brooks, Adah Curtiss, Myrtie Kempf, Clayton Bigelow, and Lyle Calhoun.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' High School Glee Club, under the able direction of Miss Humphrey, has accomplished many things this year. As a beginning of this year's activities we elected officers for the club: Dorothy McConnell, president; Betty Joyce Green, secretary; and Doris Wintersteen, social chairman. The first appearance of the glee club was an assembly program given December 15. The high school operetta, "The Beauty Contest," proved a great success, and all profit went towards new music for the music department.

STANDING—

Cadmus, Seitz, Francis, Harrington, Graff, Lindsley, Vest, Galloway, Johnston, Winter-
steen, Claus, Wilson, Blohm, Rodgers, Green, McConnell.

SITTING—

Boyce, Osburn, Cowan, Kruger, Cole, Crane,
Glenn, Clark, Allen, Woodcox, Hunt,
Strand, Bugbee.

DEBATE

STANDING—

Betty Joyce Green, Jack Larsen, Miss Yeomans.

SITTING—

Alice Louise Claus, Rae Nita Larsen.

The activities of the 1937-38 debate squad have been most worthwhile. The teams survived the preliminary contests without a defeat, which won the University Plaque for the school. The 1937-38 members are proud that they were able to break the eleven year period of bad luck, and again capture the award. The following debaters will receive pins for taking part in an elimination debate: Alice Louise Claus, Rae Nita Larsen, and Jack Larsen. Continued interest and hard work has characterized all of the members of the Speech class who have participated in debating. The members are Alice Louise Claus, Betty Joyce Green, Mary Lou Curtiss, Yvonne Carpenter, Rae Nita and Jack Larsen.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

This year, for the first time in several years, we have reorganized a Boys' Glee Club in the senior high section. The club consists of twelve members, who meet twice a week and sing part songs and other favorites. The club has appeared before assembly programs and various clubs in Tecumseh. We are hoping to grow into a large four-part chorus, which will bring pleasure to the community and honor to the school.

ANNUAL STAFF

STANDING—

Jack Larsen, Mrs. Laidlaw, Nelda Ann Daisher, Clarence Damon, Myrna Bugbee, Myrtie Kempf, Mrs. Service.

SITTING—

Dorothy Hall, Kenneth Johnson, Owen Curtiss, James Clark, Virginia Allen, John Kelly, Pauline Powell (absent).

PEPPERETTES

STANDING—

Beevers, Curtiss, Harrington, Carpenter, Woodcox, Green, Leighton, McCoy, Harkness, Lindsley, Larsen, Briggs, Hall, Coffey.

SITTING—

Hewlett, Gove, Clark, Daisher, Curtiss, St. John, Skinner, Creger, Butler, Rodgers, Blohm, McKee, Brooks, Coffey, Eagen.

A Pepperette organization under the leadership of Mrs. Helen Hodges was formed in October of the school year. There were approximately 32 members. The uniforms are black skirts and blouses with orange barrel sweaters and orange and black "beanies."

The Pepperettes marched for the first time at the Deerfield basketball game. The officers of the organization are as follows: president, Joyce Clark; vice-president, Jean Brooks; secretary and treasurer, Margaret Gove; news reporter, Ruth Leighton; and cheer leaders, Rae Nita Larsen, Ona Mae Loudon, Mary Lou Curtiss, and Yvonne Carpenter.

SCIENCE CLUB

A Science club was organized this year for those interested in working on problems of a scientific nature. Meetings were held primarily to allow students to make use of the laboratories; but these work meetings were also supplemented with talks by outside speakers and by movie films.

Some of the projects completed by the students were the following: (1) developing films and printing pictures, (2) printing and developing blue prints, (3) enlarging camera photos, (4) building an electric motor, (5) silvering mirrors, (6) glass etching.

The officers of the club are: president, James Clark; vice-president, Owen Curtiss; secretary, Dean Jones; sponsor, Mr. Johnson.

The club looks forward to next year with expectation of new projects and more efficient and even more interesting work.

ORCHESTRA

The officers of the orchestra are: president, Myrtie Kempf; vice-president, Herbert Fisher; secretary-treasurer, Jean Poucher; and director, Clare Camburn.

The other members are Dorothy Hall, Hope Aebersold, Alice Claus, Ronald Van Valkenburg, Ralph Camburn, Kenneth Abbott, Neil Jones, and Jack Larsen.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

STANDING—

Reinhart, Aebersold, Fritz, Van Valkenburg, DePuy, Fisher, Woods, Kronberg, Mr. Parsons.

SITTING—

McClure, Wahl, Gray, Conklin, Munger, Smith, Hunt.

The officers of our local chapter of Future Farmers of America are as follows: adviser, Mr. George Parsons, agricultural instructor; president, John Conklin; vice-president, Merrill Gray; treasurer, Gregg Aebersold; secretary, Willard Woods; reporter, Herbert Fisher. The junior officers, who constitute the degree team and who will be the officers next year, are: adviser, Mr. George Parsons; president, Herbert Fisher; vice-president, Ronald Van Valkenburg; secretary, Willard Woods; treasurer, Gregg Aebersold; reporter, Bill De Puy. Some of our purposes are to develop cooperation, leadership, confidence, scholarship, and love of country life in the farm boy.

We, the Tecumseh chapter of the Future Farmers of America, wish the Class of 1938 the best of things in life.

JOURNALISM CLUB

The Journalism Club is one of the smaller school organizations. We have eleven members. They are: Ruth Brainard, Pearl Brown, Mary Lue Curtiss, Hugh DesErmia, Herbert Fisher, Ruth Leighton, William Leonardson, Pauline Powell, Camilla Satterthwaite, William Shavalier, and Jeanne Sluyter. Ruth Leighton is president and Mary Lue Curtiss, the secretary-treasurer of the club.

Our chief business now is writing the school note and editorials for the "Tecumseh Herald," but our hope and ambition is to be able to publish a school newspaper of our own. We meet every Tuesday during the eighth period. We spend our time studying other school newspapers, learning how to write articles and editorials, and mastering rules of newspaper writing.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club was organized with members from the first and second year French classes. The purpose of this club is to promote interest in the French language, and to learn something of the French people and their customs. Each month the club meets with the adviser, Mrs. Service. The officers are: president, Marian Aebersold; and secretary-treasurer, Ruth Leighton.

J-HOP

The J-Hop, sponsored by the class of '38 in their Junior year, was the most successful dance of the season. The gym was cleverly decorated with balloons in the form of grapes hanging from the ceiling, and along the sides were arbors also hung with grapes and leaves. Refreshments were served, and the music was furnished by Dick Hanselman and his orchestra.

JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION

The Juniors entertained the Seniors at a reception on May 28, 1937, in the gymnasium. The gym was decorated with tulips placed along the walls and large figures of Dutch girls and boys.

The dinner was served by the Sophomores, who were dressed in Dutch costumes. The dinner was followed by this program:

Introduction of Toastmaster	Ed Hunt
Toastmaster	Clyde Mitchell
Welcome from Juniors	Pauline Powell
Piano Solo	Norman Langthorne
Community Singing	Clarence Damon, Clair Manwaring
Senior Class Adviser	Mrs. Laidlaw
A Flying Dutchman Speaks	Janet Dickinson
"Down the Zuider Zee"	Mr. Young

Russ Truman furnished the music for the dancing that followed.

The Class of 1939 started the school year off with a steak roast at Sutton's Crossing. On October 29th the class sponsored the "Junior Fall Frolic," held in the high school gymnasium, with Bernard Stadtmiller's orchestra. The gym was decorated in keeping with the fall season, with leaves, pumpkins, and corn shocks. The Junior Play, "Guess Again," was given before a receptive audience on March 23 and 24, under direction of Mr. Jon Young. Those taking part were as follows: Barbara Thielan, Garrett Linger, Leslie Calhoun, Lee Robinson, Laurabelle Hewlett, Margaret Gove, Doris Wintersteen, Jean Poucher, Anna Beevers, and James Mackey. Everyone is looking forward to the annual Junior-Senior Reception, for which plans are already being made.
