Introduction

Welcome to the 2004-2005 Yearbook. It is an awesome Yearbook.

There have been a number of changes this year. For the first time our book has been published by a national publisher, The Taylor Publishing Company. This has changed the way the Yearbook was produced, sent to press, and the time frame the staff had to write the pages. They put in a huge amount of extra hours to get this to you on time. Special thanks to our Taylor representative, Cliff Campbell, for all his time and effort. It simply would not have happened without him.

This is my tenth year as advisor to the Yearbook, and my last. It has been an incredible journey. It has been a most stressful yet rewarding time. I have worked with many wonderful young people. The head editors, financial editors, and seniors' editors put in hours and hours of overtime. I would like to voice my appreciation to the head editors of those yearbooks. Many thanks and best wishes to Nicole Porter, Sarah Rosander, Kevin Radant, Matt Dailey, Vicki Vassar, Jeremiah Fanslau, Chris Shonk, Travis Fanslau, Megan Hensley and Emily LaRocque.

The Yearbook Staff are the students among you who take the photos, go to the games, go to the meetings, find the statistics, and fight with the computers. The Yearbook is given no money by the school district: the students have to make it all. They are the ones who go out into the community to sell advertising, to sell the senior ads, and to sell the Yearbook itself. Year after year they managed to come up with the finances to produce some of the best award-winning yearbooks for many miles, while also being one of the lowest priced.

Through the years the book itself has gone through many changes. Ten years ago we sold 250 black and white books. Last year we sold 600 full color books. The most important change was a Yearbook arrival date in the Spring rather than the Fall. To do that, the yearbook comes out before graduation with the Spring section (the Addendum), picked up when you return to school.

Our first yearbooks were produced on five different models of Macintosh computers. This would not have happened without the help of several student techs, especially West Marble, Forrest Marble, and Chris Mohr, and the assistance of Mr. Eric Roberts. Their efforts were sincerely appreciated even though they were never quite thanked enough. The last two years Mrs. Kathy Young has contributed greatly to the yearbook. I would like to thank her for all her time and dedication.

The Yearbook classes have been a family, working together, supporting each other, disagreeing at times, but in the end, functioning as a team to produce a compendium of memories and facts that most of us will keep our entire lives. We have laughed, cried, eaten pizza, yelled at computers, and birthed the child that is the Tecumseh High School Yearbook for ten years.

I will miss all the wonderful emotions and fabulous people I have worked with on this journey. I will not miss the stress. Producing any publication the size and scope of the THS Yearbook requires an enormous amount of work. I thank all the people who have done this over the last ten years.

Good luck to all those who will continue on with this endeavor, and to all those who will be just beginning.

With Love to You All,

Susan Marble

STUDENT LIFE

First Day Of School

"Welcome Back"

In the morning, students walked down the upstairs hallway to go to class. Other students tried out their lockers for the first time.

When the day began, students gathered in the hallways talking about their vacations. Some of the juniors waited for the day to begin.

Students waited in line at the Guidance Office. Many had to make changes to their schedules, although not everyone got the changes they wanted.

Lunch is before, during, and after B&G. Students anxiously gathered together during lunch once again, to reminisce about their summers with new friends. The freshmen got their first look at the high school cafeteria.

Homecoming Royalty

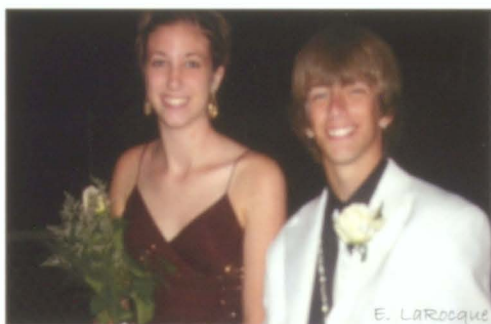

"Just Like A Fairy Tale"

This year's King and Queen, Bob Gross and Kaitlin Hong, ride off with big grins. Keeping it in the family, Bob was crowned by his older brother Max.

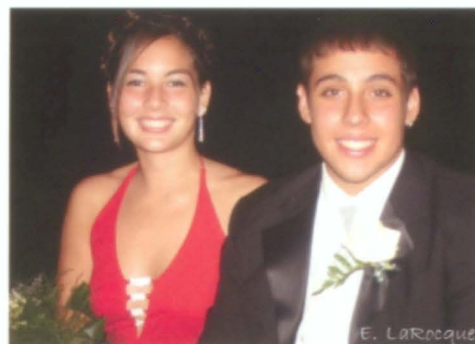

Freshmen Alex Royal and Danielle Mruzak advance around the track in their first Homecoming appearance. Judging by their smiles, they are happy to represent their class.

Juniors Ron Martin and Ashley Pasternak make their way off the field on the cold night of Homecoming.

The Senior Court gathered in the Media Center for their newspaper photo. They all had high expectations of being crowned.

This year everyone was really pumped for the 2004-2005 Homecoming game after the Pep Rally. That night the Tecumseh Indians faced-off against the Dexter Dreadnaughts. Halftime was the most anticipated part of the night. The Homecoming Court slowly made its way around the track and took their spots on the football field. At the height of anticipation, the results were announced: the 2004-2005 Homecoming King and Queen were Bob Gross and Kaitlin Hong. Congratulations to all nominees!

Cruising around the track are the Sophomore representatives, Nick Gonzales and Samantha Hong. They rode off into the night after their appearance in front of the crowds.

Senior couple Jessica Buck and Dan Westendorf await their turn to step out onto the field. This was their last homecoming appearance.

Spirit Week

"Homecoming"

Representing the junior class were Ashley Pasternak and Ronnie Martin. Both were very excited to be in the parade this year.

The Pep Band helped cheer up the crowd. They played many different songs including the school's fight song.

Participating in a game at the pep rally was both fun and embarrassing. The Varsity players were wrapped in plastic wrap and carried across the gym floor.

Homecoming Spirit Week is always something to look forward to. The week started out on Monday with PJ day, then followed by camo day, beach day, class shirt day, and for the pep rally, orange and black day. Events that were held outside of school were the bonfire, float building, a dance after the game, and Art Club window painting.

The seniors came out on top, which wasn't a surprise. They were followed by the juniors in second place, and the sophomores in third. The freshmen came out last, but even though they did, many students participated. Spirit Week really got the students pumped up, and showed that THS has tremendous school spirit.

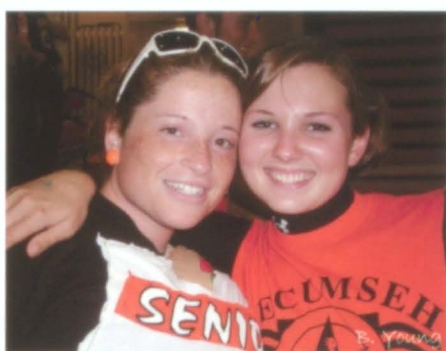

The junior class was giving their all in the tug-o-war against the seniors. In the end the seniors won the final match against the juniors.

The cheerleaders did a good job of pumping up the crowd. They performed a routine from one of their many competitions.

During lunch a group of junior girls pause for a moment as they show their school spirit by wearing their class T-shirts. Later that day they would find out that it paid off by coming in second for the Pep Rally.

Showing their school spirit are seniors Edith Eisenscher and Nikiei Neitman. They made the pep rally even more fun.

At the Pep Rally are Ben Andre and Matt Felkey. They led the freshmen and showed them how to be good participants during Spirit Week.

At the Pep Rally the seniors hoped to shock the socks off the teachers in order to win Spirit Week competition. They did not yell in vain, because in the end they ended up winning.

Wearing their class shirts, a group of sophomore girls stop for a moment before being counted for the Spirit Week tally.

Excited to be wearing their class T-shirts was this group of freshmen. The freshmen know how to show their school spirit.

Floats & Float Building

"Coming Aboard"

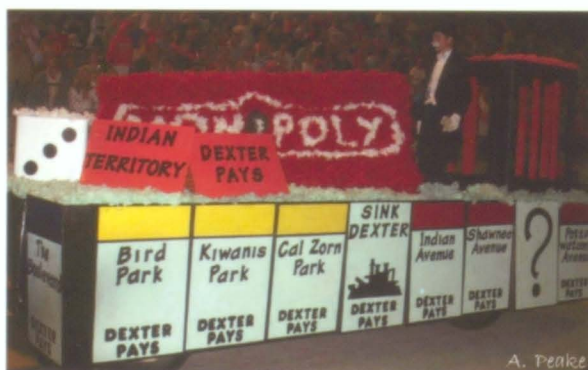

The seniors went all out this year to make sure that Dexter's battleship was sunk! Because of their effort and the time they put into their float, the seniors came in first place.

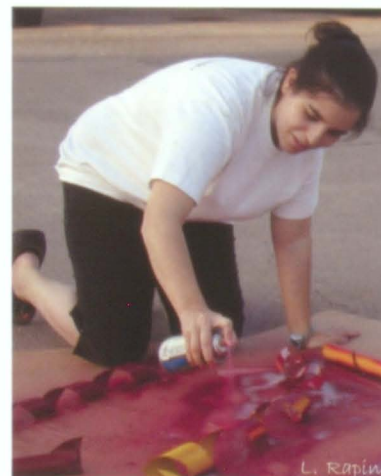

As Homecoming inches closer, Monica Deming pumps the juniors' float. This year twenty-five students and 3 parents volunteered their time to work on the float. In the end, their effort just wasn't enough to beat the competition.

Concentrating hard, Casey Harvey and Rachel Earles help color the sides of the freshman float. Many freshmen showed up to help pump, color, and build the float. It was a great team effort.

The freshman float makes its way down the track at the Homecoming game. On top of their float stands Mr. Monopoly: freshman Nathan Bell.

As Angel Valdez spray-paints the dreadlocks for the sophomores' "Operation" float, everyone rushes to accomplish their goals. All the people who assisted in finishing the float came together to have a great ending.

The float below was "operated" on by the sophomore class. They had a great finish with third place. Approximately 50,000 pomps and an extreme amount of manpower were used to make this float.

A. Peake

"I thought that float building was a great opportunity for people who want to do something in that line of work. For me, my favorite part was the actual building of the float."

- Felicia Baker
Sophomore

The senior float had an excellently painted Battleship logo. Sarah Gilmore played a major role in designing their float. There were around 16,000 pomps used on this float, with about 40 student volunteers.

Freshmen gather around Amber King while she works on the dice for their float. This year the freshman class had a great turnout of volunteers. They had 20 parents and at least 70 students participate. Over 42,000 pomps were used to cover the entire float.

Working on the sophomore float are Callie Gafner and Doug Furgason. They are working on the paneling for the sides, where the letters will hang. Fifty students came to volunteer their time.

The junior float came in last, although it was very well-made. The fog and great design were an asset to the parade and the Homecoming festivities.

TICWSS Spirit

"Week of Beads and Togas"

TICWSS has always been a time of spirit-filled students and toga-wearing teachers; this year was no exception. Spirits were very high as students walked into school Monday in their pajamas, and walked out on Friday wearing togas! The days in-between were Mardi Gras day, camo day, and orange and black day, which were all big successes.

Another fun part of the week was Friday's pep rally. Students showed up at 9:40 to the gym, where they participated in arm wrestling, pie eating contests, and tug-of-wars. They also saw the TICWSS royalty, and the basketball team, who went out to shoot around before the rally. The students cheered as the pie eating contest started, and found out that it was only a contest between Mr. Scheick and Mr. Benschoter. The student-filled gym also got a chance to hear about the accomplishments of all the winter sports, and cheers from the cheerleaders rooted on all the teams.

The Indians have always had school spirit; the pep rally and spirit week were just another chance for us to root on our winter sports teams. This week was a big success, so thanks to all who participated!

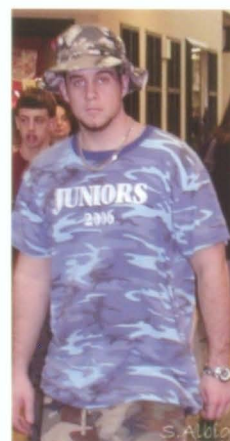

All wearing camouflage outfits, Autum Mecum, Adam Snider, and Rance Rickard stop for a picture before school starts. Camo day looked to be the most participated in event of the week.

Wearing Mardi Gras beads, fun hats, and masks, the student population showed off their school spirit. As the ghost of Mardi Gras present, Scott Albio spread the spirit of the TICWSS season.

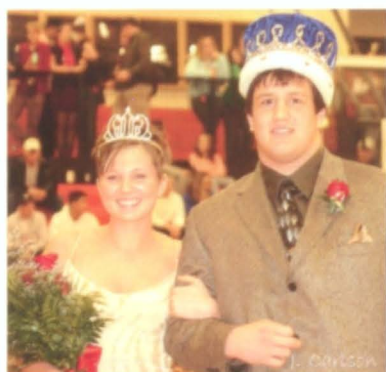

For all who participated in spirit week, it was a fun and exciting week. Julie Catanese, Megan Hensley, and Chelsea Hensley, were students who chose to dress up on Mardi Gras day along with many other students.

Participating in Camo day, Larry Spreeman walks down the hallway showing off his new look. Many students who participated in this event went all out and wore entire outfits of camouflage.

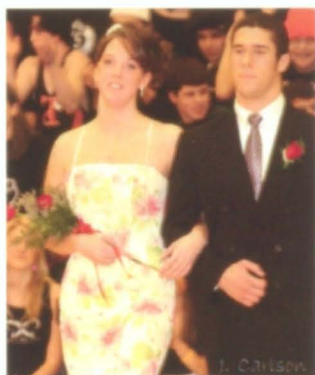

TICWSS Royalty

"A Night To Remember!"

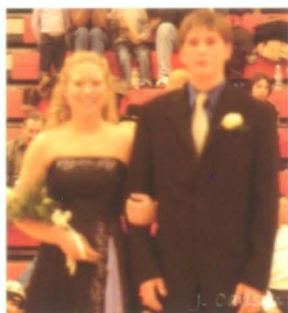

Nikki Neitman and John Ahearn pose for their first picture as King and Queen. Congratulations!

This year no one could wait for the crowning of 2005's King and Queen. Everyone was especially excited after Friday's Pep Rally. That night our Tecumseh Indians played a fierce game against the Chelsea Bulldogs. As halftime came around, everyone was ready to see the Court. That day, everyone in school voted for who they wanted to win. After all the votes were counted, the winners were determined. Congratulations to Nikki Neitman and John Ahearn!

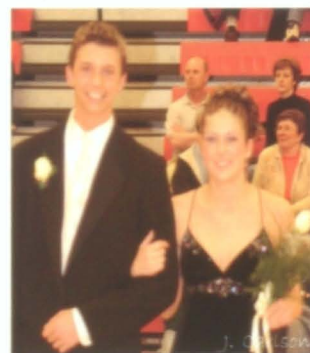

Andrew Yarbrough and Caitlin Shea walk onto the court for the second time. Being seniors, they hoped that each of them win the crown.

With big smiles, freshmen Carlee Handy and Louie Davitt walked out onto the court, proud to represent their class.

As sophomores Mark Bishop and Kara Lambrea walk onto the court, everyone cheers for the couple.

Proud of being a part of TICWSS, seniors Lauren Stanek and John Wilson represent their class on the court.

Juniors Zach Fox and Nicole Butler stop for a picture before they join their fellow students on the court.

Seniors Tarah Torres and Joe Valdez were honored to represent the class of 2005.

THS Pays Tribute For 9/11

By: Deane Ertz, the Tecumseh Herald

*H*earing the strains of our National Anthem is a moving experience for many people. The solemn lyrics can bring a lump to the throat and a tear to the eye of a patriot even under the happiest of occasions. The "Star-Spangled Banner" at the beginning of an athletic event provides a moment of reflection to fans and players alike, but the song can seldom be imbued with the poignancy given it by the Tecumseh High School Choirs last Friday, Sept. 10.

After the routine clamor of students arriving and locker doors slamming, the usual hush of concentrating students descended on the building. A deeper hush fell, however, when Principal Bob Sheick cued the microphone on the public address system and asked that all teachers open their classroom doors for a moment of silence and a performance by the choirs of our National Anthem. Even the faint murmur of teachers' voices intoning the day's lesson ceased with the announcement from the principal, and a deeper hush fell over the campus. Outside of the building, a clear and warm September morning called to mind a similar, briefly glorious fall morning in 2001.

Friday's crystalline autumnal sunshine poured through the tall windows at the south end of the school's corridor with an almost palpable goldenness.

Choir Director Donna Andre struck the opening chord of the anthem on a keyboard that had been set up for the occasion before the long line of choir students that stretched for the main part of the two-story hall, and the choristers hit the note flawlessly.

The sound of voices filled the school and many a lump formed in students' and teachers' throats as thoughts turned not only to the words of the song but certainly also to the 3,000 souls lost in the national tragedy three years ago.

When the last echoing note faded from the phrase "...and the home of the brave," the choir members dispersed silently to their regular morning classes. It seemed that the deeper-than-normal silence lingered in the air long after the hall was deserted, but with it was a sense of peacefulness, a serenity, and a certain sadness that were tempered by the rays of sun still streaming through the windows.

Stepping out of the building, even the world seemed to have observed a moment of silence before continuing on its daily routine.

The sunshine had a bittersweet radiance that comes when summer is gone.

Holiday Dance 2004

"Peppermint Paradise"

"The dance was a lot of fun, and I was so excited to do the Thriller line dance," senior Jenny Carlson said. "This will be my last Christmas dance, and I am going to miss it."

The decorations at the dance consisted of balloons, Christmas trees and, of course, candy canes. Everyone loved the dance this year.

These sophomore girls were happy to show off their dresses. For some of them this is their first high school dance, and hopefully not their last!

For most students, the night started off around five o'clock with everyone gathering at one place for pictures. As soon as the flashes stopped, everyone piled into the limo to go to dinner. Dinner lasted about an hour, with more picture-taking. Then around eight o'clock, they headed back to the car to go to the dance. Everyone drove slowly because no one wanted to be right on time; no one is ever on time.

Everyone finally arrived at the school in time to see that just about everyone else is arriving as well. As everyone headed into the dance, they would notice two giant candy canes. Then they walked under red and white balloon arches into the cafeteria. The first thing that you have noticed when you walked into the cafeteria were the huge red letters that spelled out Peppermint Paradise. Everyone was talking to friends and taking pictures. There were a few couples who are brave enough to be the first on the dance floor. After the first few songs, the dance floor was packed with sparkling dresses and tuxedos. Then everyone danced the night away to a variety of songs.

The dance finally ended with a slow song and sore feet. You said goodbye to friends and headed back to the limo for the last time. During the ride home, everyone reflected on the night, thinking about the dresses girls wore, and who was with whom.

Everyone was having fun dancing the night away to some of their favorite music. There was a long line of people by the DJ, requesting their favorite songs.

Pride and Prejudice

TYT's Fall Production

Everyone gathers around Jane (Meyer), as she explains to them about her visit with her aunt. She has much to tell, and everyone wants to hear the good news.

Visiting the household, Charlotte (Laurel Steele), talks to Elizabeth (Kayla Osworth) about the family. She played her supporting role very well.

Excited because Mr. Wickham is coming to the house, Catherine sits by the window waiting for his arrival. Later, Mr. Wickham takes Catherine and Lydia to a party.

Once again, Tecumseh High School students lit up the stage with a TYT production. They performed "Pride and Prejudice," which was directed by Joanne Eversden. The play was held during the weekend of November 19th, 20th, and 21st, 2004.

The play was about a family whose mother (Kate Alber) encouraged them to marry wealthy gentlemen. The father (Stephen Wolfe) however, wasn't so involved with the decisions. The parents had five children, all of whom were girls. The oldest daughter was Jane, who was played by Stephanie Meyer. Next in line was Elizabeth, performed by Kayla Osworth. After her came Catherine and Lydia, who are very close in age; Amanda Anderson and Ashley Howard play these characters. Mary, played by Maria Halasz, does not get married, though her opinions are greatly valued. She is very smart because she reads a lot, just like her father.

The whole play took place in the Bennet's living room. Excellent decorations and creative design really helped it look great on the stage. The lighting and sound were a great asset to the play, with students Stephanie Clark, Jason Smith, and Kevin Sunderland helping out.

The costumes, hairstyles, and make-up were fantastic; many people made all of this happen. Costume designer, Karen Travis, and make-up designer, Mark Deming, really helped the play come along. In addition to playing the part of Lady Catherine De Bourgh, Sarah Spade also assisted with the hairstyles.

The acting was unbelievable, and everyone did a great job. The tech crew was a big plus to have during this play. Amy Meyer, and Kate Alber worked magnificently together, and they were a big help.

In the end, the play went wonderfully, due to the work of many people. The actors did a terrific job entertaining the audience. All ended well in the Bennet family, with the mother very satisfied with all of her daughters' decisions and their new-found wealth.

After the end of the play, Mr. Darcy and Elizabeth walk out on stage for the applause. These two characters played their parts well, and gave depth to the play.

For the final accolade, Mr. Bingley (Doug Furgason) and Jane (Stephanie Meyer) pose for a picture. Doug and Stephanie were well selected candidates for these roles because of their acting experience.

In front of her father, Catherine (Amanda Anderson) cries because she couldn't go with Lydia and Mr. Wickham on an outing. Mr. Bennet tries to make her feel better with some thoughtful words.

Lady Catherine De Bourgh (Sarah Spade) is Mr. Darcy's aunt, and is set on making sure that he does not marry Elizabeth. In the play, she yells at Elizabeth and tells her to stay away from Mr. Darcy.

Emotional because Mr. Bingley moved away, Jane cries to Elizabeth, who helps calm her down. Throughout the play Elizabeth helps everyone with their problems.

Asking for her hand in marriage, Mr. Darcy tells Elizabeth how he feels about her. She replies "no" and later in the play, she ends up marrying him anyway.

After finding out that her daughter Lydia has eloped with Mr. Wickham, Mrs. Bennet begins to get emotional. Jane, being the gentle daughter, comforts her mother.

Powderpuff Football

"Anything Guys Can Do, Girls Can Do Better!"

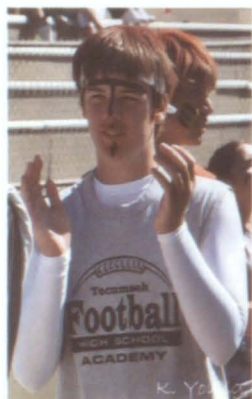

The Freshmen Powderpuff team did surprisingly well, in their first year of competition. Mrs. Kasper was their advisor who helped them through many obstacles.

The Junior Powderpuff team did really well against the Freshmen team. It looked as though they might have had a chance of winning the Tournament until the Seniors beat them in the final game.

Freshman Cheerleader Nick Royal cheers on his team from the sidelines. All four teams had their very own and very handsome male cheerleaders.

Running back Andrea Barger tries to find a way around the Junior defenders. These girls were very intimidating to the Freshmen, considering they had more experience.

The Powderpuff games are a one-of-a-kind experience that allow high school girls to participate in football, a sport that is normally played by guys. Playing Powderpuff Football is a Tecumseh High School Homecoming tradition that girls participate in every year. They practiced for a full week and played their game the Saturday of Homecoming. All of the girls had a great time.

This year the Juniors played the Freshmen, while the Seniors played the Sophomores. The Juniors beat the Freshmen 27-6, and the Seniors topped the Sophomores 14-0. The winners of those games, the Seniors and the Juniors, played each other to determine which team would prevail. In an action-packed match, the Seniors beat the Juniors 8-0.

Powderpuff Football is a great experience that players and fans alike won't soon forget.

Congratulating each other on a game well-played are the Sophomores and the Seniors. The Seniors beat the Sophomores 14-0 in their game.

The Sophomore Powderpuff team tried their best, but in the end the Seniors prevailed against them. Mrs. Peake was the class advisor. The coaches were Sophomore guys.

The Senior Powderpuff team won the Tournament. Mrs. Hong and Mrs. Wigner were the advisors to the girls.

Sandy Montie runs after Rachel McClure, attempting to pull her flag. The Seniors scored two touchdowns this way.

Defensive player Chelsea Servoss chases after running back Nikki Neitman. Nikki had quite a few carries in the game against the Sophomores.

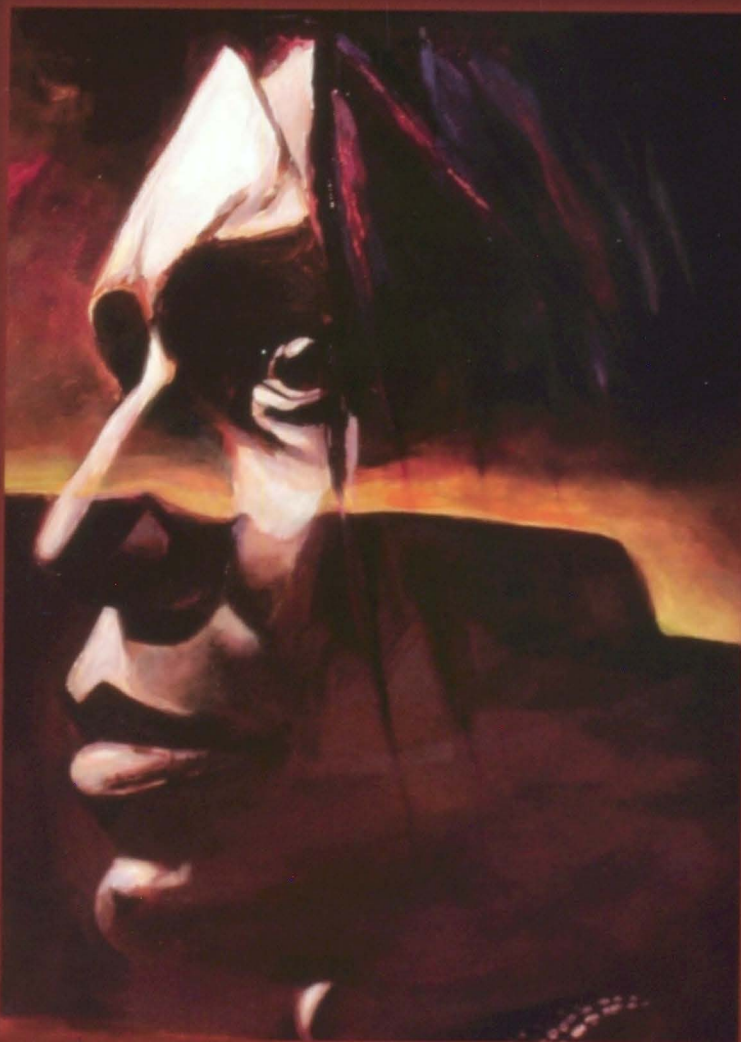

Running back Caitlin Hong receives the handoff from one of her teammates. The seniors were the most successful at trick plays, such as the reverse.

Kicking off to the Sophomores is Tara Torres. Tammy Montie and Amanda O'Leary are assisting her on Special Teams.

PERFORMING ARTS

Marching Band

"One Band, One Sound"

Some of the greatest memories of Marching Band are formed in the stands during games, when the atmosphere is charged and excitement is inevitable. Alto Saxophones Amy "Squee" Breijak and Lizzy Neil could always be seen smiling and dancing in the stands.

This year's pit was comprised of Kelsey Rajala and Sarah Wilson. They watch the field commanders as trumpets kick up during halftime.

Marching Band has always been a strong tradition in Tecumseh, and this year was no exception. With more than 130 members - the most of any band in Lenawee County - and songs from the musical "West Side Story," the Shooting Stars Marching Band soared past all expectations.

Throughout the season, Mr. Rice reaffirmed his philosophy that the band's main purpose is to support the team, a viewpoint that was fully manifested as the band cheered loudly and played energetically during games. With lively songs like "Eye of the Tiger," "Freeze Frame," and "Final Countdown," along with traditional group cheers like "Battlefield" and "Strawberry Shortcake," the Shooting Stars highlighted the best student section in Lenawee County.

The halftime show presented several challenges this year, including tough drill and quick direction changes. However, under the guidance of Mr. Rice, field commanders Megan Graf, Megan Chludzinski, and Alex Kasik, and strong upperclassman leadership, the Shooting Stars were able to present a polished and impressive show at every football game.

The Marching Band always kept students excited at pep rallies. Playing the fight song is always sure to rouse school spirit.

Band members stand at 'parade rest' between the playing of the national anthem and the fight song, waiting for the football players to come running through the "tunnel." This is a great way to start the game and to stir up support for the team.

Playing the national anthem and fight song before the game is one of the band's many important functions. The trumpet section plays the music of "Pre-Game."

The THS Drumline is well-respected within the band for their discipline, but they also know how to have fun! Three of Tecumseh's snare players, Zach Mortimer, John Northrup, and Kenny Thomas yell out in the middle of their cadence.

"Marching Band is a bonding experience like no other. It pushes you to grow, expands your limits and perceptions of what you thought you could do, and it transforms ordinary people into musicians and leaders."

-Sarah Hart

The Tuba line was particularly impressive this year, laying a solid foundation for the band's sound. Sarah Gilmore, leader of the tuba line, belts out music during the show.

Field commander Megan Chludzinski is responsible for directing the band during halftime. Chludzinski led the band in "One Hand, One Heart/America," the show's second number.

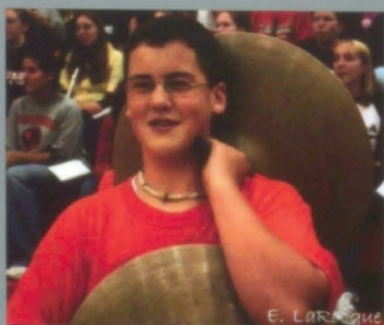

THS Drumline

Quad players Will Eversden and Matt Ayre face each other as they play the quads. Although these are the heaviest drums to carry, the four different sounding drums make their music very interesting.

Cymbal player Justin Bergstrom poses for the camera during the fall pep rally. He was always smiling and making others laugh.

Looking positively intimidating in his dark glasses and afro wig, John Northrup raises his stick into the air during a performance for students. The Drumline's spirited playing always drove the crowds wild.

Ashton Parsons plays the bass drum energetically during a show. The Drumline is a dedicated group of people; they are one of only two sections to hold practice during the summer.

The Drumline performed their "Super Cadence" at the Homecoming Pep Rally. Although many sections of the band have their own identity, the camaraderie and closeness among the Drumline is truly remarkable.

Pep Band

"We've Got The Pep"

Not many people realize how much of a difference the Pep Band made at all of our school functions. The Pep Band was an intricate part of the school because they pumped up almost all of our school's teams. Pep Band is completely voluntary and the only connection it has with Marching Band is that they both play instruments.

Pep Band has played at many Tecumseh High School events including basketball and football games and the TICWSS Pep Rally. Angela Wyse said, "It's a lot of fun. We get to be really involved in supporting the team, and play a large role in getting the Jungle excited." The Pep Band had fun playing at the games and we all enjoyed listening to them.

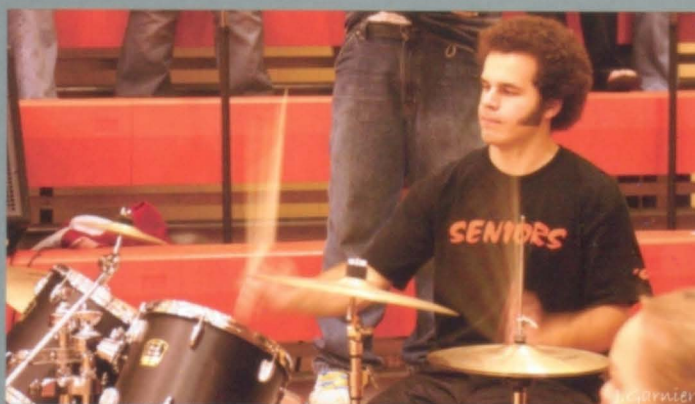

Many underclassmen were key players in the Pep Band. A dazzling array of instruments were put to use to encourage the teams.

The whole Pep Band shows their talent to the crowd. The band had a terrific trumpet line.

Matt Mruzek was the only guitar player in the Band. Matt did a great job pumping up the crowd.

John Northrup played the drums in the Pep Band. He also was a leader of the band to pump up the gymnasium.

Sarah Gilmore was the only female Tuba player. She also was a leader of the Pep Band.

Symphonic and Concert Band

"One Band, One Sound: Take Two"

E. LaRoque

Several important changes were made in Tecumseh's Concert and Symphonic Bands this year. Concert Band was divided into two sessions, which practiced separately, yet performed together. This made scheduling more convenient, and also allowed for more individualized instruction. In the Symphonic Band, students focused heavily on musical theory, learning about minor scales and the composition of music. The result was a very rewarding concert season for both of Tecumseh's Bands.

E. LaRoque

Samantha Adams, a very talented clarinet player, watches the conductor during a Symphony Band rehearsal. Samantha was an essential part of the band's clarinet section.

Symphony Band member Jodi Schultz follows her music during a rehearsal. Schultz was one of the flute section's senior members.

E. LaRoque

Symphonic Band's trombone players wait for their cue to play during the Holiday Concert.

E. LaRoque

Kara Bennet, a member of the Symphony Band, plays the tuba during practice. Ray Lee and Sarah Gilmore also played the tuba in the Symphony Band.

Symphony Band's French horn section was comprised by Carolyn Racine, Kate Lee, and Cody Sanders. Senior Kate Lee, center, was this section's "principle," or section leader.

Symphony Band's brass players rehearse, along with percussionists John Northrup and Zach Mortimer. These sections worked hard this year to create the best possible sound.

The Concert Band's flute, clarinet, and trumpet sections play at the Holiday Concert. The night was a great success.

Symphony Band's percussionists are deep in concentration during the Holiday Concert. Musicians can easily get caught up in the charged atmosphere of a performance.

What's a band without its director? Mr. Rice (or "Jimmie") led both the Concert and Symphony Band.

Concert Women

"It's A Girl Thing"

Concert women is a choir usually filled with sophomores up to seniors. However, this year Mrs. Andre did something a little different - she went to the middle school and had soon-to-be ninth graders audition for Concert Women. There were about eleven ninth grade girls that made it, bringing a new flavor to Concert Women. Concert Women, like every other choir, has four concerts per year.

Mrs. Andre prepares the audience for the next song. She did an awesome job of captivating the people between songs.

K. Young

K. Young

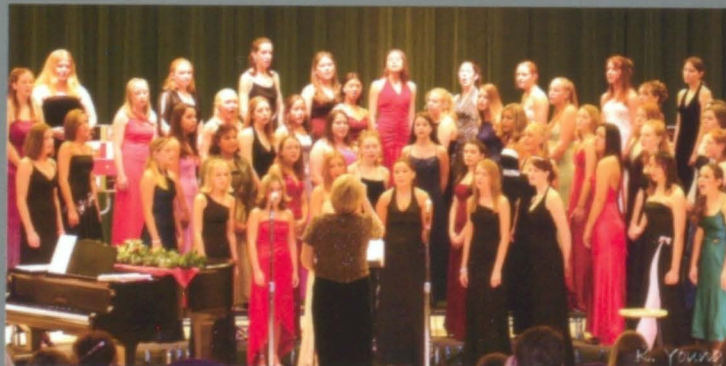

At the "Elegant Evening of Song 2," Megan and Chelsey Hensley sang a duet. Altogether the performances were very harmonious.

K. Young

Accompanied by Dan Mruzek, Danielle Mruzek sings her "Special Greeting" at the "Elegant Evening of Song 2." Danielle did a beautiful job with her solo.

The ladies of Concert Women came together to sing "Scarlet Tide." Paying close attention to Mrs. Andre, they did an outstanding job with this piece.

K. Young

Musinc

"Pretty in Pink"

*M*usinc is a choir that is made up of all Freshmen girls and is filled with melodious songs and tunes. The girls in this choir, as in all the other choirs, are taught by none other than the marvelous Mrs. Andre. Musinc has been referred to as an experience that lasts a lifetime. With four concerts each year, it gives many talented young ladies the chance to show off their talent with solos, duets, and even trios. All of this is made possible because they have Mrs. Andre as their teacher. She is a patient, kind, and caring musician; the girls have a close relationship with her; one that not many other teachers ever have with their students.

This is the first year that Musinc has had such a harmonious sound. The young ladies of this choir are extremely talented, and have brought a whole new kind of harmony to our choral program. The lifelong memory that comes from this choir is an amazing one that you will never forget.

At the "Elegant Evening of Song 1," Megan Heath and Amber McMillin sing a duet together. Everyone who participated in this had a great time.

The entire Musinc choir performed at the "Elegant Evening of Song 1." The choir had a wonderful audience to truly appreciate their melodious tunes.

Having a wonderful time, Katy Vance, Tiffany Gross, and Natalie Knight sing while adding a bit of choreography. All the girls enjoyed this concert and liked the fact that they got to dress up.

Singing a trio for the audience, Mandy Williams, Megan Heath, and Hanna Stucky, did a wonderful job. All the performers gave it their all and it was a fabulous concert!

The 2004 Football season was a struggle at times, but there also were some great moments. The Indians had an extremely tough schedule this year, starting their first two games away at Carleton Airport and rival Adrian, which they usually play at the end of the season. After the first four games the Indians were 0-4 and it looked like another struggling season.

Their next game was Homecoming against the Dexter Dreadnaughts. Usually it would have been a given win to the Indians, but this year the Dreadnaughts were a much better team. Our Indians pulled together and got their first win of the year. After gaining some confidence by beating Dexter, the Indians won three out of their last five football games, beating Dexter, Lincoln, and Jefferson.

The final game was a great one for the seniors playing their last game at home, beating Jefferson in a thriller, and ending Jefferson's playoff future. After the last game the seniors buried their mouthguards in the field. The season may have started off sour but ended sweet. Coach Hutchinson said, "I've never been more proud of a team than this one, the guys fought through the year and made it a special one."

Andrew Yarbrough and Drew Cunningham tackle a Chelsea player as Bronson Gonzales aka ("BOO") and Josh Alcodray follow.

Josh Alcodray and Steve Bahn take a kick off to start the game. Josh and Steve were both first-year Varsity players.

Tim Willis played many different positions for the Indians this year and had a big impact on the team.

All the captains did a great job as leaders this year, by teaching the younger guys about the game and holding the team together through tough times to make it a season to remember.

New defensive coach, Wayne Boggs brought a lot to the team this year, while Head Coach Randy Hutchinson filled in as the offensive coordinator.

This was John Ahearn's third year on the varsity team. He played a big part on the offensive line.

The team gets pumped up before the game in front of the crowd. The crowd played a big part in supporting the team this season.

Tecumseh pounds the ball up the middle against Ann Arbor Pioneer for a first down while players from both teams pile on. The Indians had a strong running attack this year.

After making a hit on a Dexter player, Sean Sailus heads towards the play.

Mark Mitchell had many outstanding runs for the Indians and was their leading rusher. Mark will be returning for another season of THS football.

Aaron Haller lines up against a wide-receiver. Aaron was one of the starting corners this year and led the team in receptions.

JV Football

"We Ready!"

Wingback Jarrod Knorr is being chased by his opponents to the end zone. Jarrod helped the team make some very big plays this year.

The Defense takes a timeout to get a water break and get rested. They then can go back onto the field feeling rejuvenated. Players Nate Shemwell, Bruce Walker, Justin Kocaj, and Ryan Smith are shown here taking a drink of water before the next play.

Justin Kocaj is breaking off of a would-be Lincoln tackle. He was a big asset to the team this year with many great rushes.

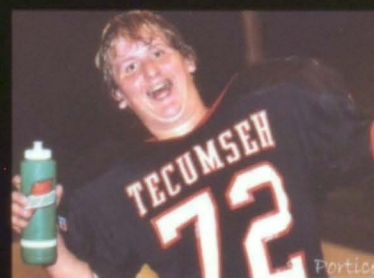

Nick Gonzales and David Napieralski were injured and could not play for most of the season, but they stayed with the team and were always there for support.

Billy VanDeCar wraps up an opponent and takes him down. Billy contributed a lot to the Tecumseh's defense this year.

Before every game the team would pray together. This showed that the team was very unified and they could play well together as a team.

Steve Ayre is pumped up because he just had a six yard touchdown run. Steve was a great asset to the defense.

Boys Varsity Golf

"Getting Ready For The Pro's"

Returning to Varsity this year is Senior Jerred Barley. A very important part of the team, Jerred has played varsity golf for three years now.

Showing his students how to play the game, Mr. Pat Pomy tees off. He sets up for a powerful tee shot to crush it by his practice competition like Kalmbach and Gunder. He is a master of the game and loved to watch his team in heated competition.

This golf year has been a good one for Tecumseh. With a win at Wiffle Tree in Jackson early, it set the tone for the rest of the season. The Varsity team also won the County Tournament by 17 strokes. They competed well in their league and won the league match at Redmen Farms in Chelsea. At Raisin Valley Golf Club, they qualified for the State Tournament at the Grand Valley State golf course by beating out Dexter by one stroke. Josh Henkel and Jerred Barley both made the All County Team, Kyle Kalmbach and Gabe Gunder County Second Team. Senior Jerred Barley said, "We had a great season and had fun along the way. It was my goal to make it to State's and we did, so I am pleased." "We definitely set a Big Time tone for the next couple of years and could not be more pleased with the way we all performed throughout the year."

The Senior squad was one of the best in recent years. Led by these three Indians the team looked promising. Josh Henkel, Jerred Barley, and Kyle Kalmbach brought the golf team a "Big Time" season.

"We had a good season. We accomplished what we set out to do and we made it big time."

His short game helped Gabe throughout the season. He is chipping it close here at the Tecumseh Country Club to help Varsity to a victory. Gabe Gunder is a returning player to the Boys Varsity Golf team this year.

Freshmen Football

"The New Dawgs, But The Same Old Tricks"

Running down the field to the end zone, Mark Lahnala scores a touchdown at home against Jefferson. This year Mark was an essential part of the team.

Carrying the ball on a run to the right, Will Kasper tries to avoid the Jefferson blockers. Great execution of a play was necessary throughout the entire season.

While advancing towards the line of scrimmage, Nick Royal blocks some opposing players for Derrick Rowser. Both Derrick and Nick made contributions to the games they played for their team.

This year started out great for the Freshmen Football Team. During the summer they had training camp, and were all warmed up for the games to come.

Their first game of the season was on the 26th of August, against Airport. The team lost that game, and unfortunately lost all of their games until later in the season, when they won three in a row against Lincoln, Bedford, and Monroe Jefferson. On the bright side, this year was a learning experience for the entire team, and will give them something to look forward to next year.

In the end, our freshmen team tried their best, and we should respect what they have accomplished. Sean O'Rourke commented that, "We tried our best, but we didn't do so good."

They might not have won all their games, but as Assistant Coach Tim Connors said, "They were very determined, and even though they started out with an 0-6 record, they continued to work hard every day."

Listening to his coach give instructions, Spencer Krauss gets the next play. Spencer was a great asset to the freshmen team before he was moved up to the JV team.

During a break, the team rests, and drinks their fill of Gatorade. The entire year, the freshmen gave it their all, and played some great games.

JV Cheerleading

"Learning How To Fly..."

All of the JV cheerleaders are up on their feet getting the crowd up and cheering for their team.

Warming up for a game, the JV girls practice stunting. Stunting is one of their favorite things to do.

After a long hard game, the cheerleaders were ready to go home. Before they went home they posed for their parents to get a quick picture of their first game.

This was an awesome year for the JV Cheerleaders. They went to the Hillsdale County Fair for their cheerleading competition, and while they wanted to win first place, they were satisfied with second place. This year's team consisted of three sophomores and seven freshmen. The general consensus was that this was the most exciting part of the cheerleaders' year.

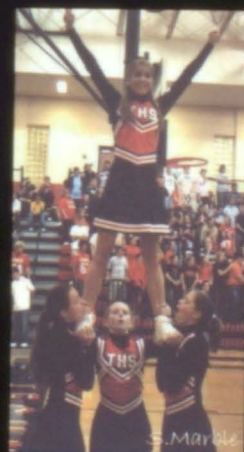

They definitely lived up to Coach Ambers' expectations. They learned many new stunts, and stuck it out. "I am very proud of how the sophomores stepped it up to help the freshmen know what level they were expected [to ascend to]" said Coach Amber. All of the girls did such a good job that Amber did not have any disappointments. She was very happy how the squad stuck together and became more of a team. "We had a great season. We also had a great time doing and learning stunts." stated Larisa Thacker in review.

The girls are reviewing a cheer, just to make sure that they have it perfect.

The cheerleaders just arrived at the field for the Homecoming Game. They were ready to go cheer.

Varsity Cheerleading

"Flying Higher"

Pump it up! The Varsity Squad had a great time cheering for the Indians this year.

The Varsity girls at halftime at one of their home games. Keeping up with the Jungle kept all of them on their toes this year.

The Adrian game was one of the biggest this year. The squad is warming up for the big night ahead, with Shelby Bowditch flying.

The Band and Cheerleaders wait for the Varsity players. Both groups did an awesome job showing their support for the Indians.

This was a good season for the Varsity Cheerleaders because of all their hard work and dedication. The Varsity squad consisted of four seniors, seven juniors, four sophomores, and one freshman. Starting with a new coach, Amber Million, the girls quickly adjusted to the new ideas and suggestions. One major success of the Varsity Cheerleaders this season was placing first out of five at the Hillsdale County Fair. The girls worked very hard and had many practices to get their first place, and they really deserved it.

The girls also attended a new camp this year in Pine Forest, Pennsylvania. Both squads stayed together in a bungalow and it was a great bonding experience for them. Their days were packed full of challenging cheers and stunts, and the girls had a great time. The Varsity squad brought home first place for their home pom routine.

One of the major fundraisers for the Cheerleaders this year was Little Cheer. During the last game of the season, all of the cheerleaders, Varsity, JV and the Little Cheerleaders, performed a dance for the crowd during halftime. Little cheerleaders and big cheerleaders also performed at halftime of both of the fifth and sixth graders' last games. The Varsity and JV squads did a great job teaching their young students this season.

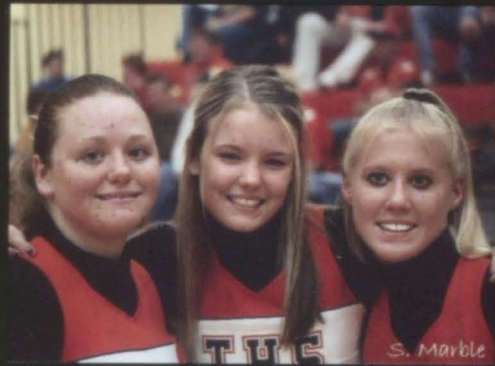

"This year's varsity Squad had a tremendous amount of talent. It was a large squad with 16 girls, but every girl brought a different amount of skill and spirit. These girls placed first at the Hillsdale competition, which is the best they've ever done, and I'm very proud of these girls. Good job. Coach loves you."

-Coach Amber Million

"This season has been such a memorable one. We've had many fun and exciting experiences cheering together. This year all of us girls got along better than ever before. I'm going to miss all you girls and Coach!"

-Shanté Wood

Tiffany Sears, Ashley Lucha and Britni O'Rourke are having fun at the pep rally. They did a great job at pumping up the school spirit for the game

The varsity girls show their spirit at the pep rally. The crowd loved their enthusiasm.

Varsity Soccer

"Puttin' The Ball In The Goal"

After stealing the ball, Elijah Million goes on the offense, with help from CJ Brown. Both were great at attacking the opposing teams defense all year.

Getting ready to shoot is CJ Brown, who was one of the youngest players on the team this year. He will be returning to the Varsity team next year.

In an attempt to steal the ball, Joey Valdez slide kicks the ball away from an Adrian player. He was a great defender this year for the Indians.

Looking up for the ball is Senior Bob Gross. He was a great asset to the team as a great defender.

Co-Captain Lee Gramling slide kicks to steal a ball. He was a great positive feature to the defense.

Captain Elijah Million attempts a goal at the opposing teams goal. Elijah scored many goals for the team this year.

After a great save by keeper Merrill Murphy, he kicks the ball back to a fellow teammate. Merrill was a great keeper for this year's team.

Midfielder Brandon Riser heads the ball to a fellow teammate. Brandon was another senior on the team who loved to play the game.

Penalties can work both ways, but to Bob Gross it's an advantage. Bob lines up to kick the ball in.

After running downfield, midfielder Joshua Frost passes the ball to Nick Vance. Nick goes on to score for Tecumseh.

To pump up, the guys get in a circle and yell at the top of their lungs. They yell different things like "Indians" and other cheers. Most of all they are getting psyched up and ready to get out there and win.

This is the ball of the Tecumseh High School Boys Soccer program. This ball has been kicked by some of Tecumseh's soccer legends.

JV Soccer

"A Good Offense Is A Good Defense"

Tossing the ball down the field, Matt Tommelein sets up his teammates for a goal. Matt was a strong asset to the team this year and will work well with the varsity team next year.

Waiting for the ball, Cory Brooks stares down the opposing team's players. He will be an asset to next year's varsity team.

Taking a break from the game, freshman Ben Andre looks down the field. Ben was a great contributor to the team.

Getting off to a rough start, the JV Soccer team had high hopes for the season. The team was forced to adjust after donating two sophomores to the Varsity squad. The skill was not as abundant as in years past, but by working as a cohesive unit, the team came together as one. Their record was 6-6-3. They put all on the line in every game. "They went out and gave 100%," said Coach Mike Seal. The coach was very happy with their performance. Most of the players who came back from last year showed their true skills, while the newer players were right there next to them in skill level.

Concentrating on the kick, Corey Scheerer boots the ball down field to the offensive players. Corey helped the team in many ways this season.

After making a great save on the opposing team, goalie Tanner Pike kicks the ball downfield. Tanner was an expert goalie all season.

Equestrian

"Gallopig Our Way to Victory"

The Tecumseh Equestrian Team were the 2004 District Champions, winning all three District meets with a total of 484 points. All three riders made the All District Team: Cassie Labadie, in Saddleseat Fitting & Showing and Equitation Over Fence, and Kim Pilbeam, in Western Fitting & Showing, Cloverleaf, and Dash Race. Amy Wertenberger, the only senior on the team, made the District team in Saddleseat Pattern. The Equestrian Team was coached this year by Pat Pilbeam and Nicholle Labadie.

Waiting to start her Seat Fitting and Showing Pattern is Cassie Labadie. Cassie loves showing her beautiful horse, Heaven.

Running the final stretch in her Dash Race is Kimberly Pilbeam. Kimberly was showing her horse, Taz.

The Equestrian Team of 2004-05: Kimberly Pilbeam, Amy Wertenberger, and Cassie Labadie. Smiling pretty are the girls showing off their horses.

Waiting to start Saddle Seat Fitting & Showing is Amy Wertenberger, on her horse Miracle, that she has shown for two years. Amy was a senior this year and is going to miss showing her horses.

Racing to the finish line is Kim Pilbeam. Kim took two first places in this competition.

Varsity Girls Basketball

"Play Hard, Play Smart, Play Together, HAVE FUN!!!"

J. Carlson

Press-breaking was a great skill that the Girls Basketball Team nailed this year. Jenny Carlson and Tarah Torres are waiting for the ball up the court for a fast break against Adrian.

She shoots, does she score? We don't know, but Courtney Smith contributed a great deal to the team, especially on free throws. When the game was on the line, the team could count on her for many free throws.

J. Carlson

The quarterback of the team, Lauren Bohannon, was one of the key players for the team. She had the job of bringing the ball up the court under pressure and running the plays for the offense.

Coming down the floor trying to decide what play to call, Jackie Barley really made a huge contribution to the team this year. Her ball handling skills were excellent and continue to improve.

S. Marble

In all too recent memory the stigma of Varsity Girls Basketball being equivalent to 0-20 seasons doesn't quite sign girls up for try-outs. It seems as though the program had been all but forgotten until the spark of a 8-14 season last year made people sit up and take notice. An overall domination of opponents and an undefeated six-game winning streak, decisively demanded attention. With no expectations, except those of coaches Ron Spagnoli and Ed Oxley, the Lady Indians brought a "take no prisoners" attitude every time they stepped on the court. Knowing full well their potential, the team was driven by each and every member, especially the seven seniors. Having endured four years of tough conditions, these seniors helped to pull everyone together. However, pulling the team together was not a difficult task with the quality people and playing of the new Varsity members.

One of the many aspects the new players brought to the table was textbook defense. The phrase "offense wins games, defense wins championships," proved true this season as the SEC title was earned by the Lady Indians; a feat that had not been accomplished in over a decade.

The end of the season was bittersweet; moving up to Class A in the division was a challenge that the Lady Indians were ready to step up to. With a first round bye, the Indians were ready to make their first appearance in the second round of the play-offs against Ypsi High School. The girls started out with a big BANG! in the first quarter and were ahead by ten points. Ypsi came back before the half, and the rest of the game was a tough battle between both teams, with the Indians approaching the finals. Making it to the finals in Class A was a big accomplishment for the girls this year. The final game was against Monroe High School. This team was a bit more physical, and the girls didn't really get it together until it was too late. The loss was a big upset to some of the players, since it was their last high school basketball game. But, to others, this was a great season where many new things were accomplished by these awesome young ladies. In the end, getting defeated by a team who made it to the quarter-finals, doesn't seem so bad, does it?

These four seniors got together for a picture on Parents' night. Megan, Tarah, Jenny, and Courtney have been playing together since middle school.

The lefty, Sam Smith, was an aggressive player. She took the ball to the hoop when we needed a basket.

With the extra kick in her shoot, Marcie Brys was a big threat on our team. She played awesome offense and defense.

Girls JV Basketball

*"It's Not How BIG You Are,
It's How BIG You Play"*

Looking to pass the ball is Captain Nikeki Hughes. Nikeki was a great passer and team player all year.

One of last year's returning players, Lucinda Sandoval stepped it up this year to contribute to her team's many wins. Lucinda is the team's point guard due to her ball handling skills.

Many girls on the team were great defensive players, but Amanda shows that offense scores baskets but defense wins games. Amanda's skills developed since last year and she is now a leader on the team.

The Girls JV Basketball Team had an awesome season, winning over half of their games. Unlike last year, this team had an advantage due to all of the height that it gained with the new freshmen coming onto the team.

Heading into the middle of the season, the girls were inspired to win. They had been in a slump where they lost two games in a row and then came back to win three.

This year had a brand new attitude, coach, and players. This year's coach was Mr. David Gibson. There are three new freshmen players and all of the freshmen from last year returned. The girls had the mindset that they could and would win games.

One of the team's leading rebounders and tallest players shows how she earned her spot as a freshman on the starting JV team. Andrea Barger was a great asset to this team.

Taking a break from all of the action, Megan Cangle gets a chance to catch a breather. Megan was a key player on the team this year, had great knowledge about the game and was a team leader.

Girls Frosh Basketball

"Girls Rock In Basketball"

Running down the court is Lauren "The Hammer" Haines, who was so aggressive that she fouled out of almost every game. Lauren is a great defensive player and her future here in the Tecumseh High Basketball program looks very promising.

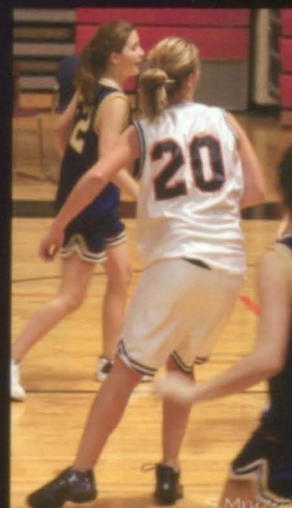

Prominent point guard Hannah Hall is dribbling down the court. Hannah loves basketball and plans to play all four years of high school.

Supporting the team and making the plans, Coach Cornach is going to make the Freshmen Girls Basketball Team even better.

Points were mostly earned by teammates passing the ball to each other, well-exhibited by Megan Patterson and Lindsey Stephenson.

Many of the girls on this team add depth to the team, but Stacey Cook, "Cookie" has the height and strength abilities.

This year's Girls Frosh Basketball Team had a great season. They were led to victory by their supportive parents and their coach. The team was small as they had only nine players, but amazingly they pulled through during the season because of their extreme conditioning before the season.

The team had a new coach this year, Eahrika Cornach, who played basketball in high school and college, and she really loves the sport. She said, "The team should try to develop as much as we can, to work hard, and to play hard." She felt that the most exciting thing that happened to the team this year was when, "The team was playing close because you really learn what you have and what you can do."

The girls functioned very well as a team and individually all season. Erin VanWasshova said of their teamwork, "I think the best part of being on the Frosh Girls Basketball team is just being around the girls that I've been playing with for the past five years. They always support you and stick up for you whether you're playing good or bad that night."

Brittany Stressel had this to say about the team. "In the beginning of a game we pump each other up to get ready to play, and by the end of the night, whether we win or lose, we know that we tried our best."

Overall the Girls team was fantastic, winning 17 games and only losing three. The returning team can't wait until next year's season.

Girls Cross Country

"How Bad Do YOU Want It?"

Pushing hard and not falling behind, Captain Amanda Nowak stays right on the other runner. Amanda had a good comeback this year after her previous season.

Starting out on the JV team was freshman Victoria Vayo. After running just a few meets, she was quickly bumped up to Varsity where she belonged. Victoria was always in good spirits and brought the team up.

Using their packing ability, Theresa O'Leary, Captain Kaitlin Hong, and Jessica Bloomer work together and motivate each other. By running in a pack you can shut out your opponent and help each other through the race.

How far would they really go? This was the big question that was on everyone's mind at the beginning of the season. The Girls Cross Country Team had a big team this year and knew that they had a lot of potential if they worked hard. It was just a matter of "How Bad Do YOU Want It!?" This question was drilled into everyone's head all season, because the team promised to be good and had a chance to go to State. In order to accomplish this, first the girls had to become a team and not think about individual times. This was not a problem, as they had very quickly become a family and were, from then on, always together.

This year proved to be exceptionally good. The team placed either third or fourth at most meets. The team took two third place trophy finishes this year: one at New Boston Huron and the other in Blissfield at the County Finals. The team was thrilled with these wins and was eager for more.

It wasn't just the races that they remembered, it was the things that they did as a team after the meets. Jessica Bloomer recalled about one of the most memorable races. "At the Jefferson meet it has been a tradition to go into the lake whether everyone wanted to or not! So after our awards ceremony and eating, we jumped into the freezing water! It was fun." These are the fun times that the team builds on and becomes more of a family, which helps them become a "team."

This year at Regionals the girls had a chance to go to State, but it was going to be hard to do. Unfortunately they did not make it; but they were still in a cheerful mood with promise of bettering themselves next year. Overall the team did exceptionally well and wasn't in the least disappointed.

Staying out ahead of their opponents, Edith Eisenscher and Sam Sloan work together and pace off of one another.

Showing their more crazy side, the Girls Cross Country Team forms a train. They became a big family this year and formed many friendships that will last for years.

Holding down the number one spot on the team was Amanda Putt. Amanda was a very strong willed runner who knew what had to be done in a race and did her best to get it done.

Keeping the tradition alive, the team joins in a pyramid to cheer on the Boys Cross Country Team. Both teams were very supportive of each other and always found new ways to bring the spirit to the race.

Both teams huddled in a heap of blankets to keep warm from the cold after the Blissfield County Finals. Also at this meet, the girls won their second 3rd place trophy. Although the weather was extremely cold and rainy, they still found some way to make the day fun.

Proving herself a very valuable runner on the team is Casey Harvey. She had an excellent season this year. Casey always knew how to have fun on the team and got along with everyone.

Boys Cross Country

"I Just Felt Like Running"

After Regionals, both teams gathered for one last picture together. These outstanding athletes became a very tight group of friends.

Leadership is an important part of any team. Senior Captain Dan Roebuck (top) and assistant captains Josh Burkhard (left) and Travis Fanslau (right), showed great leadership all year for the team, as well as running great times.

Pushing hard up a hill, Senior Andrew Peltcs opens up his stride. Andrew made great improvements over the course of the season.

Every morning when most people are still asleep, a group of guys could be found running throughout Tecumseh. This year's Cross Country season started off in mid-July, and the guys were determined to push themselves to their full potential. The guys' team ran over 500 miles in the summer to get a great base of miles in for the season. "The whole team was bound to work hard this summer to make sure they were fully conditioned for the season," said Senior Captain Dan Roebuck.

All the summer's hard work seemed to pay off with the team placing 2nd out of 10 teams overall at County Preview. The team was prepared to compete at meets this season, and as the year progressed, many runners cut whole minutes off their personal best times. The runners were led by Senior harrier Dan Roebuck who pulled in the top spot for the Indians in most meets; right behind him were Travis Fanslau and Matt Felkey. Senior Andrew Peltcs was the fourth runner to finish, followed by Joey Pike in fifth. The other two Varsity spots were up for grabs between Jordan Nelson, Josh Burkhard, and Robert Conniff.

At the end of the season, the team had a great chance of going to State. Regionals this year were at Grosse Ile, and the weather for the meet was extremely good, but the course was very muddy from rain all week. Matt Felkey made it to the State meet and ran well, pulling out a 187th out of 250 runners for the Indians. The season went better than expected, and the returning team looks forward to an even better record next year!

Everyone enjoys giving teammate Gary Coleman a hug after the race. Gary was injured for most of the season, but will be a big contributor to the team next year.

Looking ahead at the next runner, Matt Felkey gains ground on his opponent. Matt was a great runner as a freshman with great potential for next year.

Sprinting to the finish, Jordan Nelson passes an opposing runner. Jordan was a big asset to the Varsity team this season.

Passing an opponent from Bedford, Joe Pike moves up on the competition. Joe was the only sophomore on this year's Varsity Squad.

Running in an open race, Coach Keyser makes his way down the course. Not only did Coach tell his runners what to run in practice, he would run with them for encouragement and support.

Working his way to the finish, Robert Coniff keeps ahead of opposing runners. Robert was new to the team and looks forward to next season.

Girls Swimming and Diving

"What We Do Is What You Just Can't Do!"

Swimmer Ally McCrate swam her first lap of the 100-yard butterfly. She really proved that you can do anything you put your mind to.

Two Tecumseh swimmers get off to a great start in the 100-yard backstroke. The swimmers and divers worked hard to beat rival Adrian this year.

This year's Girls Swimming and Diving Team was an expanded team of 36 girls, five of whom are divers. They won Southern Michigan Independant Swim League (SMISL) Relays and received at least 10 first places at the Kiwanis meet. Many Freshmen records were broken along with a few Varsity records. The team beat rivals Adrian and Dundee by much more than in recent years. When asked what she felt the team's greatest accomplishment was, Head Coach Sarah Eubanks said, "The greatest accomplishment was winning the SMISL Championships again this year."

The teams Diving Coach Kristen Thomas fully agreed with that statement. Senior and Co-Captain Nikki Neitman said, "The team achieved a lot this year. Not only did we have an awesome season in the pool, but we also got really close outside practice and became more of a family than just teammates. I was really proud of us all this year." The team won the SMISL Championship for the 9th year in a row. Many girls won their heats, and a few even won their events.

The team excelled at the State meet held at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti. Tecumseh took Stephanie Boldon, Nichole Campbell, Nicole Eggleston, Heidi Johnson, Christa Kessler, Danielle LaFemier, Tori Merritt, and Nikki Neitman. Diver Joanna Corby did exceptionally well, winning the Division Two State Diving Championship, a feat not accomplished by a Tecumseh diver for over ten years.

Swimming the 500-yard freestyle, Sarah Borton paced herself in the race. Sarah was a returning swimmer from last year, and she knew what it takes to swim and pace yourself. She showed just how well she did it while swimming the 500-yard freestyle.

M. Lents

Tori Merritt swims the breaststroke lap in the 200 Individual Medley. She swam this event successfully in many meets.

Tecumseh diver Kristen Music does a front one-and-one-half somersault. She worked hard on many of her dives during practice.

C. Johnson

Our upperclassmen started the cheers. They really got the adrenaline of the team members flowing, and got them pumped up to swim or dive.

Swimmers Katie Herzog and Rachel Tritt congratulate each other after the meet. Everyone on the team really became more of a family this year. The Swim Team spent a lot of time bonding and Katie and Rachel show how well they get along.

C. Johnson

Backstroke was definitely Nicole Campbell's strength. She continued to improve her stroke for the majority of the season. Here she is racing a member of the Bedford squad during a dual meet.

Susan Passavant, Jenny Carlson, and Casey Snyder are ready at the net. Getting into base defense after a serve is critical to being ready to return the ball.

Transferring from Adrian this year, Chelsea Tillotson, has helped in the setting position this year. She will step into the full time job as setter after senior setter, Courtney Smith, graduates.

Back to serve the ball, Casey Snyder had a wicked serve. Shannon Worker is waiting in the back for the ball to be returned. She is also a great passer.

This year the Tecumseh Girls Varsity Volleyball team was looking pretty good, working hard at practice, and getting ready for a tough season. They looked better than the year before, with almost a whole new team. The roster filled up with three strong seniors, who showed lots of leadership, eight juniors, and one sophomore who had stepped it up this year. Starting out the year strong, their first tournament in Addison earned them 1st in the New Boston Huron Tournament, and 2nd and 3rd in other competitions. The Indians dominated in the SEC White Division, going undefeated by beating Chelsea, Dexter, and Lincoln.

Many goals were set for the season. "Winning the SEC White Division was one of our top goals," said Casey Snyder. This the Indians accomplished at the SEC Tournament. They beat Lincoln in two games, Dexter in three, and then in the championship game against Chelsea, won in two games also. Districts was the next big step. Tecumseh had a bye in the first round and was to play Saline in the semi-finals. The Indians played a tough match taking the first game, before dropping the next three, and losing the match. It was a very sad and disappointing day for everyone, especially the three seniors who had competed for their last time. They all knew inside that they had contributed to one of the best volleyball seasons at Tecumseh High School.

W. Boggs

Indians played Bedford, the #2 team in the state. Every time they stayed with them for the most part. Going for a kill is Jenny Carlson, who could usually be counted on for one.

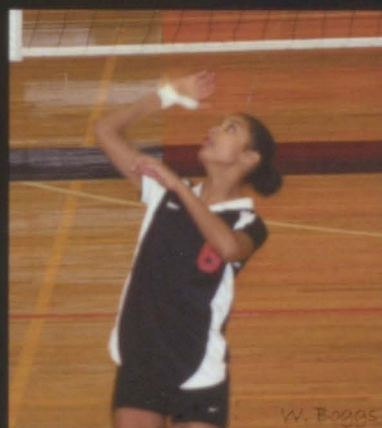

Jenny Carlson, outside hitter, is going up for a tip against Ypsilanti High School. This was Tecumseh's first tournament at home, where they placed second.

Lauren Bohannon was the Indians DS this year and coming in to play the back row, and to serve. Lauren was 94 percent for serving and also racked up plenty of digs.

One of the best servers on the team was Courtney Smith; she hit almost every zone that Coach Watkins would call. This year Courtney's serving was about 95 percent for the season.

Warming up before the game, Laura Sandoval is hitting down balls to her partner. Laura played in the middle and got the Indians some awesome kills during crunch time.

Again in base defense, the Smiths, Courtney and Michelle, are down low and ready. Michelle has really contributed in the back row, and Courtney also helped in the back row when she wasn't setting.

Get ready, here comes the serve as Casey Snyder is down and prepared to receive it. Casey's back row skills are very good; she has over 400 digs on the season.

Before the game starts, the team lines up on the end line to shake hands and wish the opponent good luck. Here are Chelsea, Casey, Krista, Jenny, Courtney, and Shannon ready to go.

"We Bring the Heat"

Coming into this season, Tecumseh knew it was going to be a rebuilding year. After all was said and done, they ended up doing a decent job. Part of their success had to do with five returning seniors. Most of these seniors got a lot of playing time last season, which ended up helping them this year. Coach Lawson believes in rotating captains every game to promote a better team chemistry. This makes everyone work harder throughout the week, hoping to fill that captain spot come game time. With no real stand-out players this year, the Indians focused on more team play and less individual play. They didn't have that player they could always rely on to come through, so they had to rely on each other.

When asked what the most memorable game of the season was, the response was almost the same throughout the team. "Playing Adrian at home this season, because it was so exciting and there were so many people here," said Coach Lawson.

Chris Sailus said, "Our home game against Adrian, because the atmosphere was simply amazing. It was unfortunate we couldn't come away with a win."

"Adrian at home, because it's such a huge rival and so many people showed up for that game. That kind of rivalry can really pump you up!" Gary Coleman replied.

Go Indians!

Josh Henkel takes a breather before taking a couple free throws.

The Indians come together on a time out and decided what they should do for the next play. Their decision leads them to a stirring victory.

Todd Hughes takes a three point attempt. Todd led the team in three point conversions this year.

Zach Fox jumps in the face of a Chelsea player, while Todd Hughes and Jeremy Matson box him in so he can't go anywhere. The Indians played very tough defense on the inbounds pass this year.

Chris Sailus shows some intensity during the game and tries to get his teammates pumped up. Chris did a good job getting everyone fired up during the games this year.

Gary Coleman takes a couple freebies from the free throw line. Gary was clutch this year when it came to free throws.

Zach Patterson posts up and looks for a pass down low. With several players over six feet tall, the Indians used their size a lot this year to get the ball inside the paint. At times, every player on the court was over six feet.

"Go Hard or Go Home"

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team finished off the season well, proud of the games they played. Some of the prime contributors for the first part of the year were Cory Brooks, Gabe Gunder, and the only freshman on the team, Cameron Worker. The team was led this year by their three captains: #24 Gabe Gunder, #42 Tanner Pike, and #10 Cory Brooks. The leading scorer for the Indians this year was Cameron Worker, with over 10 points per game. The team's strength this year was the fast break. The players were good at handling the ball and could push it down the court for easy buckets. Coach Bullinger says, "The team plays unselfishly and works hard."

The season was very challenging and the schedule was one of the toughest in the Southeastern Conference. Many of the games came down to the final minutes and a few of the games (including the Chelsea and Saline game) even went into overtime. The rebound leader for the season was Tanner Pike. Cory Brooks led the team in assists, being the only true point guard on the team. Gabe Gunder, Will Gross, and Mike Rabe were also prime contributors in all aspects of the game. Unfortunately, districts are not held for Junior Varsity teams, because if they were, they might have made it farther than some other teams in the program. Coach Bullinger said that he wanted the team to be over .500 this year, and the team accomplished that early in the season. season was Tanner Pike. Wrestling

"The Strong Shall Prevail"

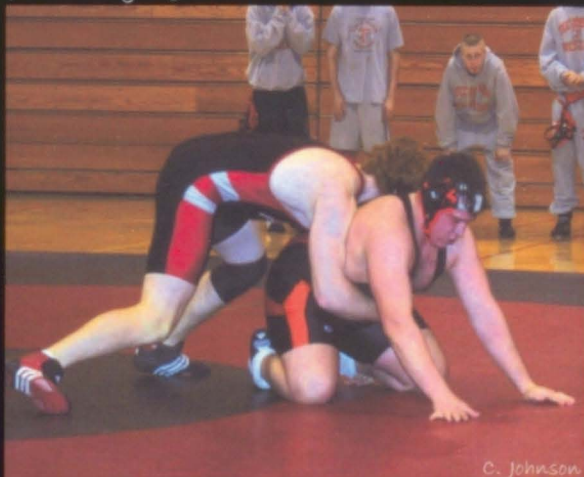

Chris Jenkins faces an opponent at the Clinton Invitational, where he took first place. Chris was a great asset to the team, winning every match he took part in.

On the ground, pinning the opposition, Josh Alcodray attempts to make his challenger submit. Looking at his muscles, it's no wonder he had a good season this year.

Down on the ground, and trying to avoid being pinned, John Ahearn props himself up and tries to force his way out of the pin. At 275 pounds, he is the heaviest on the team, wrestling for the heavyweight division.

The Tecumseh Wrestling Team had another good year this season, winning twenty eight meets and losing only four. The team was led this year by Chris Jenkins, Drew Lesko, Ron Martin, Andrew Yarbrough, and John Ahearn.

The team was as dedicated as ever, even though they lost to Mason. The team won SEC Districts, then suffered a loss to Mason in the regional match. Head coach Tim Connors said, "I felt disappointed. I thought the team did their best to try and win against Mason. Altogether, Mason was a hard team to go up against."

The team took fourteen guys to the Individual Regional meet, and seven guys to the Individual State meet at the Palace of Auburn Hills. The entire team wrestled very well, and tried hard to finish off the season on a good note. The team next year will have many slots to fill compared to this season's team.

In a match with a Clinton wrestler, Andrew Yarbrough circles the ring and tangles with his opponent. His skills were greatly appreciated.

Getting ready for his match, Nate Dejonghe walks to the table to sign in. Hopefully he will win one for the team.

Taking the foul shot is Kyle Garner. Taking free throws are not always as easy as they seem to be in the NBA.

Dribbling down court and looking to pass to a teammate is Louie Davitt. The team showed good sportsmanship, making sure to always pass to the open man.

As Vince Lombardi once so eloquently put it, "Winning is not a sometime thing; it's an all time thing. You don't win once in a while, you don't do things right once in a while, you do them right all the time. Winning is habit. Unfortunately, so is losing."

The Freshmen Boys Basketball team has proven Vince Lombardi right this year. They have had an outstanding year. They have triumphed over some difficult opponents, winning many of those games. Their coach, Brad Masko, has helped them through many challenging times, such as strenuous practices, conditioning, and demanding games that tested their strength and willpower for the game. They prevailed, as we all knew they would.

The record for the Freshmen Boys Basketball Team was 13-7. They had a rough start, adjusting to the new challenges of playing on a high school basketball team. The practices were more intense than middle school, but the players were determined to better themselves in the game and for the game. They showed their opponents that competition was an important and vital part of their lifestyles.

Gymnastics

"No Balls Allowed"

At the beginning of Lindsay Coffman's floor routine, she danced her way to a corner to start a tumbling pass. Lindsay is a talented gymnast who showed that she can do what she sets her mind to.

The T-town Gymnastics Team increased in participants this year, going from 14 to 22 girls, with the addition of eight freshmen, and the loss of four seniors.

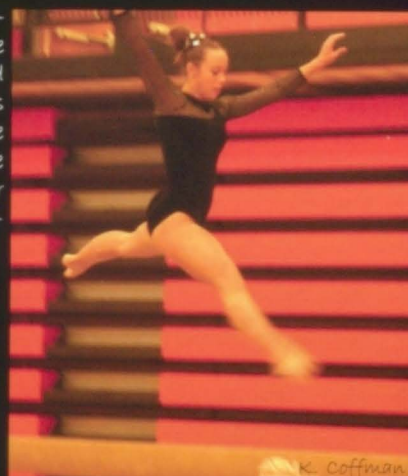

Our team was fabulous! With a record of 6-2, they had a conference record of 3-1. Gymnast Nickey Kuping commented that, "The best moment of the season was beating Adrian!" The ladies won the meet against rival Adrian Maples for the first time in four years, and placed third at the SCC meet.

Coach Jenni Pasten was asked if she depended upon just a few key gymnasts in her program. "Yes," she replied, "all twenty-something of them."

Many gymnasts spend time before the meet to prepare. During this time the team gets together to get their hair done. Shelby Bowditch was doing Nickey Kupisz's hair for the Adrian meet.

Doing a beautiful jump Marcie Brys showed how good she is on beam. The beam is one of the harder events for the girls to participate in.

Gymnast Nickey Kupisz does a whip back in her floor routine. Her floor routine this year was an inspiring piece of work.

Carli Tuberville does a back tuck layout in her floor routine. Carli has helped lead the team to many victories this year, placing very well in her scores during SCC's.

Freshmen Volleyball

"Bump It, Set It, Spike It!!"

The Tecumseh High School Freshmen Girls Volleyball team was awesome this year. They had a new coach, a winning record, and an amazing team bond. This year was a whole new ball game for the girls -- "It's a big change going from middle school to high school. The competition also got better, which made the season more fun," said Megan Patterson and Lindsey Stephenson. The girls only lost a few games this year, and placed third in their county tournament.

Also new to the season this year was Kacey Ehinger, the new coach. Ehinger has been around volleyball for a long time, and was a great coach for the incoming freshman. Freshmen got to play in their first tournaments this year, as well. The biggest key to this season's success was the girls learning to be a team. Once they had that down, they were unstoppable.

Nikki Hughes had quite a powerful hit. Nikki was a very important person on the court, picking everyone up with her spunk.

Stayci Cook and Nikki Hughes blocked in the middle. Height was an important factor. For some of these freshman, blocking came really easy.

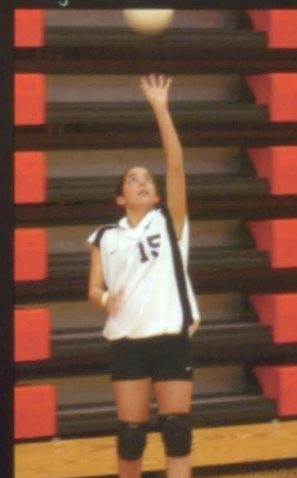

Megan Patterson and Carlee Handy are calling for the ball, and here comes the serve. Megan came in to serve and play back row, while Carlee played all the way around.

Lindsey Stephenson setting to Stayci Cook in the middle. Lindsey was one of the setters this year, as well as working in the front row.

Casey Harvey, another back row player, used her quick speed and being low to the ground, to make it easier to pass. She made a High toss for the good connection to a major serve.

JV Volleyball

"Spike Our Way To Victory!"

Coach Kim Gildersleeve give the girls some tips on the bench before they are subbed in. Melanie Braun, Rachel Grunas, and Karah Lambka went in for the front row.

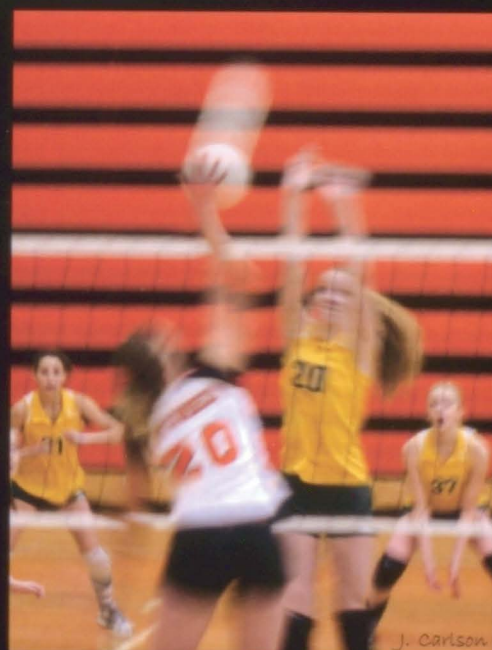

Bailey McCrate follows the ball to the arms of Lucinda Sandoval. Lucinda then passed the ball to the setter and Bailey made the kill.

This year's JV volleyball team started off the season a little shaky -- that is, until Coach Kim Gildersleeve (better known as "Coach Gil") showed the teammates what teamwork and being a family was all about. She told the ladies that they had to play together to achieve their goals. The girls knew they had to play with heart and show their coach that they wanted to win all the time, not just when they felt like it. They worked hard together and grew closer than sisters. The result was an excellent team.

The THS JV Volleyball team are proud of their record this season. Their final records are 13-5-8 in tournament play, and 5-2 in league play.

Casey Sanders is up spiking the ball against Saline. Sanders finished the game with 7 hits, and 2 kills.

Competitive Cheer

"Reaching Our Goals"

This season started out great for the Tecumseh Competitive Squad. Beginning with 510.5 points at Morenci, they continued to improve throughout the season. 510 points is much better than the team had done any year before, and at Morenci the girls acquired a second place trophy -- the first trophy the Tecumseh cheerleaders have won in a long time. Coach Amber Million said, "This season has been very good, yet very tough. We have had a few injuries and challenges to overcome, but the girls pulled through and accomplished an amazing season. This is only the beginning for competitive cheer." At the last competition before regionals, the girls scored an amazing 530.75 points.

A cheerleading competition is an event filled with nervous excitement and anticipation for the performance ahead. Each Saturday competition, girls arrive at the school between 6:00 and 6:30 in the morning, since competition starts between 8:00 and 10:00. Then it all begins. The National Anthem plays, and a wide variety of cheerleaders united in their efforts prepare to amaze. With anywhere between six and eighteen girls on a squad and between five and fifteen squads performing in one day, the time they spend performing is comparatively very small. Each squad has choreographed three rounds and, performs them for judges at various times throughout the day. At the end of the day, the girls all crowd onto the floor to have fun and play games with the other teams. Finally, the competitors all sit down in a circle of their squad members, to await the placement of the squads. A competition is quite a trial, but the rewards make it well-worth the time.

Round two is about precision and timing. The girls all stuck their motions perfectly!

In round one, the girls did two separate crowd cheers, and here they are performing one in Manchester. They really got the fans pumped.

Boys Swimming and Diving

"Wetter is Definitely Better"

*I*t was Matthew Campbell who said, "Sports do not build character. They reveal it." It is easy to think of the mindless jocks so often depicted in Hollywood, but one would be hard-put to find a dumb jock on the Tecumseh Men's Swimming and Diving Team. These gentlemen retain clear composure and concise concentration while preparing for an impending meet, but are always ready to cut loose and celebrate their victory.

Speaking of victories, while reflecting on one of his own, swimmer Jason Schroeder stated, "It feels good to know that I'm winning, instead of carrying on the tradition of freshmen not doing so well."

Graduating this year are Adam Davis and captains Eric Schroeder and Cory Girdwood. As Eric commented, "The conclusion of my swim career at Tecumseh was bittersweet, and I'm just glad it ended so well."

Though their presence on the team will be sorely missed, all are certain that next year's team will pick up the slack. This would, of course, be due to the excellent coaching of Mr. Pete Zuk. When asked for comment, he reminded us, "I hate quotes."

Congratulations, guys!

The Tecumseh team poses before the SMISL Championships. This proved to be a powerful Saturday morning for all of them.

THS Bowling Team

"Spare and Strikes!"

For the very first time, the students of THS were offered the opportunity to participate in the club sport of Bowling. They leapt at the chance with more than thirty people from all grades signing up. The bowlers practiced every Monday and Wednesday for two hours, trying to perfect their game---and it showed: with an overall domination against most other teams in Lenawee county.

Some athletes took the extra step and even participated in Saturday morning leagues, honing their skills through hard work and dedication. One such man is Adam Keller, who had this to say about the THS Bowling Team, "We did well as a first year team, but we'll do better as our team has time to grow, and the next few years are looking promising."

Promising indeed--most of the bowlers are going to return next year seeking to continue their winning streak, but at the same time, continue to mature as a team, through practice, teamwork and determination.

Rearing back for a powerful throw, Adam Keller gets a strike! Adding another notch in the already prestigious belt for the THS Bowling Team.

Lining up for a warm up, Brian Rise bends down to pick out his favorite ball. The team went through several practice throws, culminating in another win for the team.

The National Anthem plays before a Bowling meet. Stacy Wisniewski leads the Varsity Girls in a moment of silence.

After a hard match, the team likes to relax. In this case, they show the usual spunky nature of the Bowling Team.

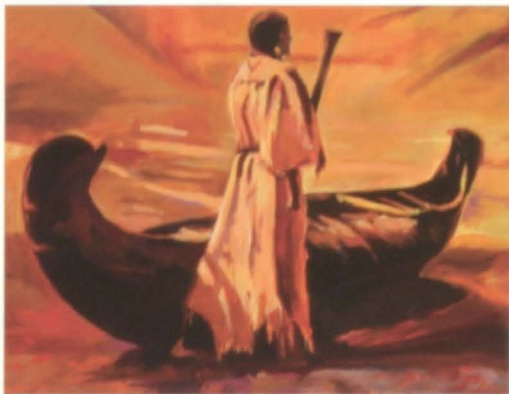

Overall:
36-6

Varsity Boys	11-1...W
Varsity Girls	12-0...W
Junior Varsity Boys	5-1....W
Junior Varsity Girls	8-4....W

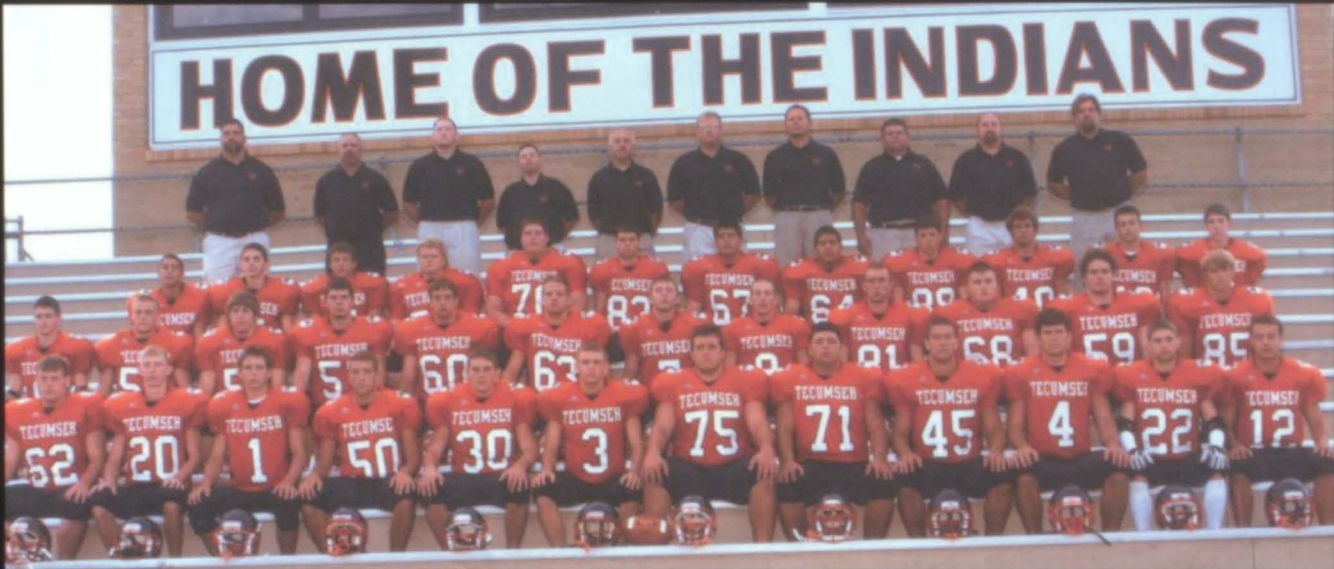

The entire team looks on in support of the guys as they bowl their best for Tecumseh. Strikes all around is the order of the day.

Cross-Age

"Helping The Future"

Eric Schroeder is having a great time helping the middle schoolers. He's a very good influence on these younger students.

Senior Nicki Neitman is working with a student on her math work. Nicki was always there for the kids when they needed a helping hand.

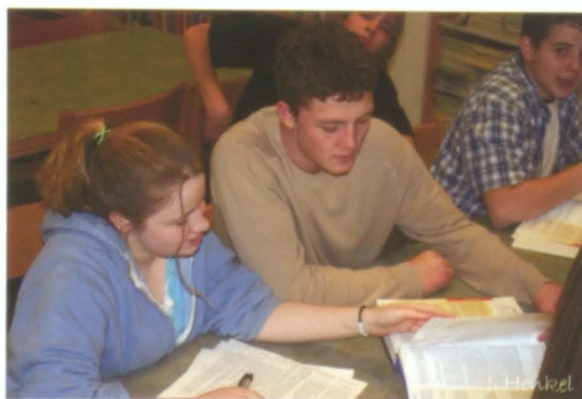

Cross-age tutoring is a very worthwhile program. The Tecumseh High School students visit teachers' classrooms and help their students. Cross-Age Tutoring is a very rewarding program for both students and teachers, allowing juniors and seniors to receive hands-on experience with younger children. This program is also useful if you wish to pursue a career involving children, and helps the students build parenting skills they will need later in life. Junior Sean Sailus said, "Helping the younger children is a very rewarding experience. I feel that with us going over there, the students are receiving help that they would otherwise not have access to."

When asked if he thought he was making a difference, he replied, "Yes. You can tell that you are making a difference when they finally get something they didn't get before, and they feel good about it."

If you wish to pursue a career with children, or you just want to help younger students, you should join Cross-Age. It's a great class that benefits the elementary and middle schools -- and the students who take it.

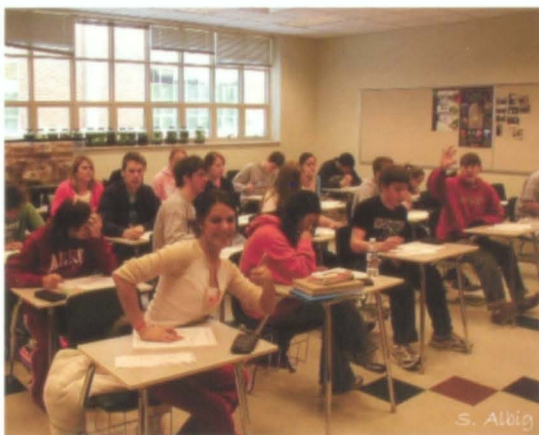

Laura Sandoval gives this middle schooler help with his geography. Laura was a great influence on the students all year.

Working with a student in the middle school is Garrett Markes-Wilt. Garrett is great with the students.

AP Classes

"College, Here We Come!"

Ready for some more work, AP Environmental Science students listen to Mr. Laney's instructions. In any AP class, the students can expect lots of work to do.

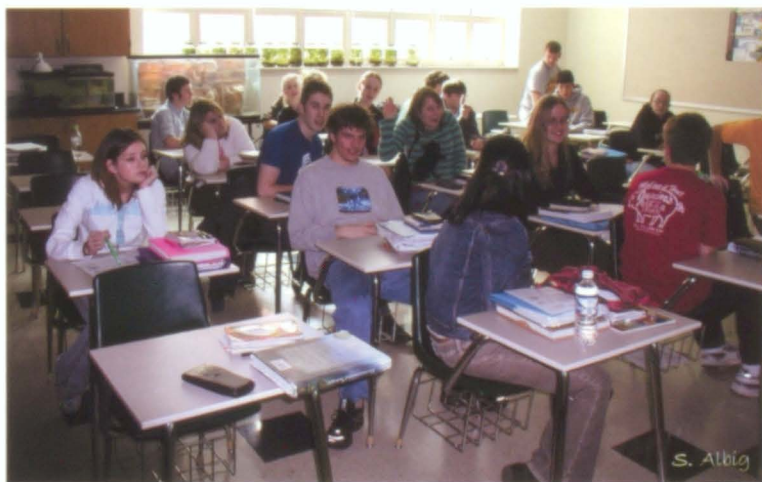

Giving John Northrup some help in AP Calculus is Mr. Novak. Mr. Novak has many years of experience in teaching this AP course.

With each passing year, there are those few students who go beyond the normal curriculum to take Advanced Placement classes. Different schools provide different types of AP classes to their students, and here at THS there are many courses for those who are interested in expanding their knowledge. AP courses are provided in the subject areas of French, Environmental Science, Calculus, Statistics, Biology, Art, Government and English. Senior Scott Albig had this to say about AP classes: "The derivative of the socio-economic ecological justification for taking an AP class is 'conquérir la nature.' Or as Robert Frost once said, 'The best way out is always through....'" At the end of the year, those who stayed with the AP class have the opportunity to take the AP test and earn credit towards college.

Students in AP Calculus are always prepared for a test or quiz daily. This is great preparation for college.

Listening to Mr. Laney lecture about the ozone and other things dealing with the earth is a common sight. This was Mr. Laney's second year of teaching AP Environmental Science.

The Jungle Hut

"The Store of Tecumseh High School"

Sitting at the concession stand are Ruthie Tobar, Jenny Servoss, Alana Fisher and Joanna Corby. Hanging out, they are waiting for some customers to purchase items.

Cheaper, is always a good thing when its candy prices in a school. All candy bars are only sixty cents at the Jungle Hut!

In the showcase, Ruthie Tobar and Alana Fisher show love for their Jungle Hut, putting up the new Christmas theme.

The Jungle Hut is the place to buy Tecumseh goods. In the Jungle Hut, one can buy t-shirts, candy and other goodies. Mr. Boggs is the adviser of the Jungle Hut, which employs many students. Students can go there during their lunch hours. This year, Stephanie Boldon, Gary Coleman, Alexandra Davey, Alana Fisher, Sara Hawes, Josh Henkel, Nathan Jacobs, Zach Lavoy, Jordan Matthews, Jamie Moore, Martin Peltcs, Casey Snyder, Megan Stephenson, Ruthy Tobar, Tarah Torres, Joseph Valdez, Shannon Worker, and Andrew Yarbrough chose to take this class. The Jungle Hut is altogether a great store.

The Jungle Hut has a wide selection of sweets, including candy bars, gum, MGMS, Skittles, and many other delicious treats.

Stephanie Boldon and Sara Hawes wait at the 'portable' Hut in the Cafetorium. They better get ready for some big business from some hungry students.

Chelsea,

We are very proud of you. You have accomplished more than many people have, and now only wish they could turn back time and undo themselves. High school was a very difficult period in your life with many highs and lows which you have come through with integrity and pride. We know that you will continue to make us proud with all of the things you will accomplish in the future.

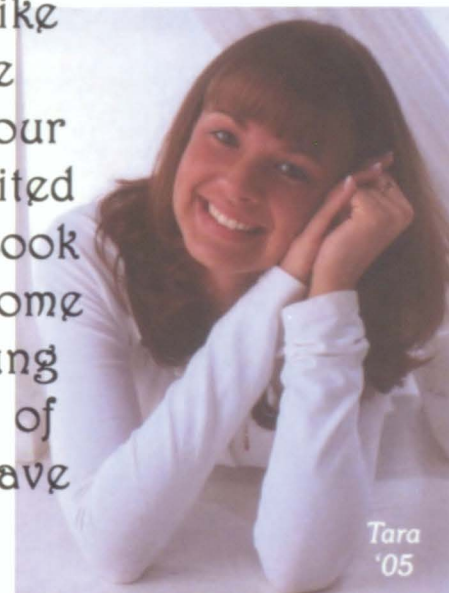

We love you very much. Love always and forever,

Mom, Dad, Grandma, Grandpa and Uncle Scott

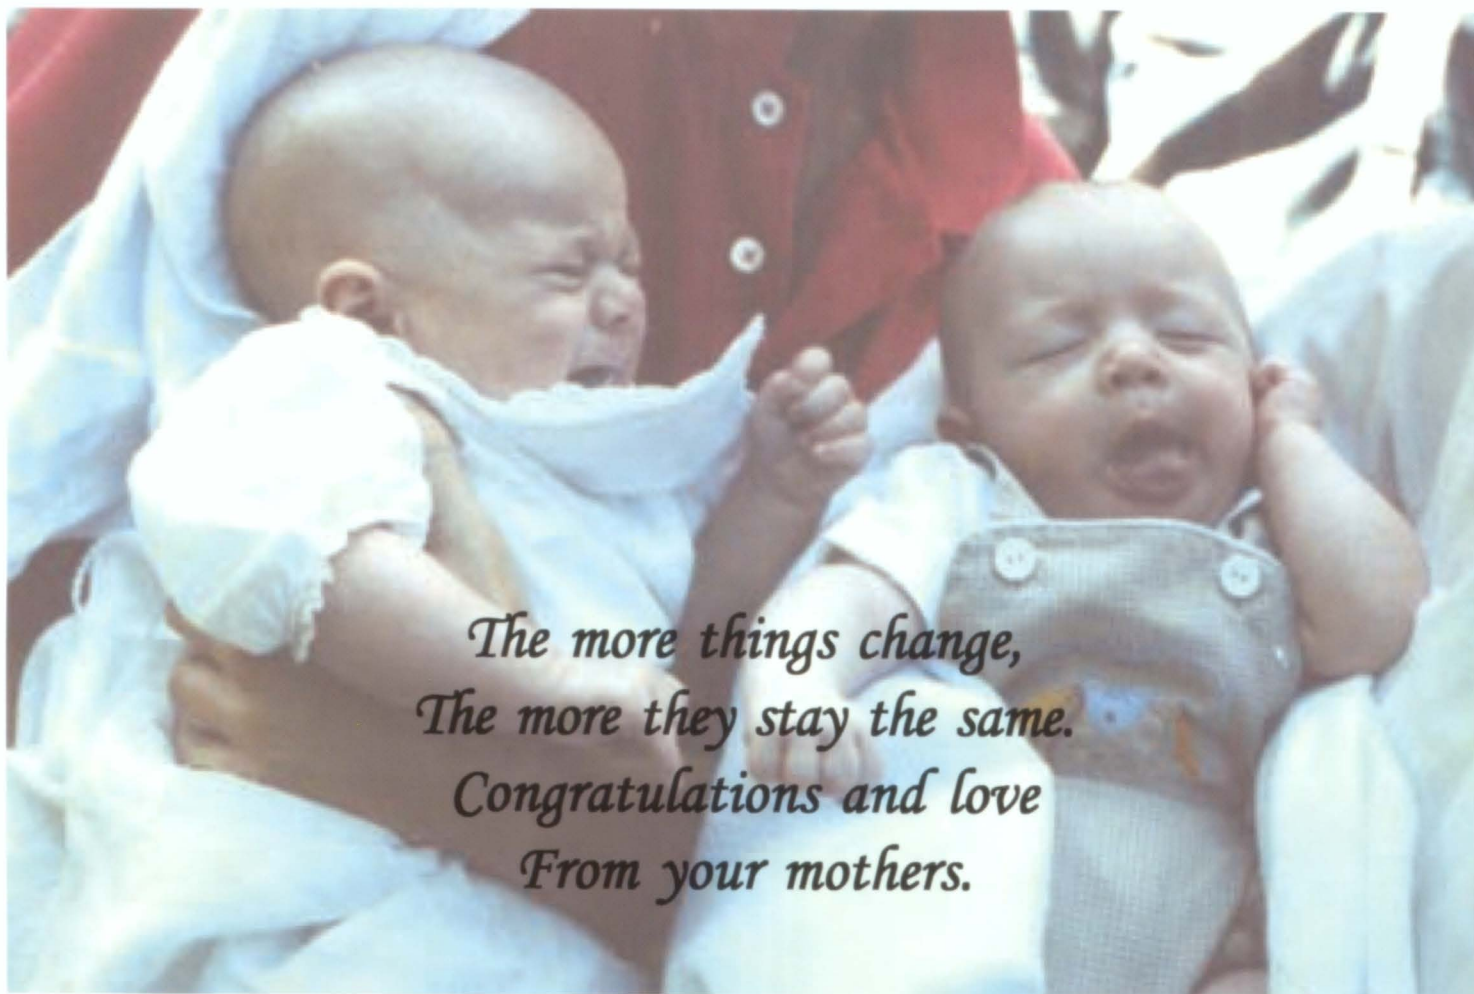

Tara,

Congratulations! Where has the time gone? It seems like just yesterday you were headed out the door on your first day of school, so excited but yet so scared. Wow! Look at you now. You have become a confident, beautiful young woman. We are so proud of you and everything you have accomplished.

My Dearest Megan,

You have truly been the blessing of our lifetime. There has never been one second that you have not made us proud to be your parents. You have grown from that adorable curly-headed baby girl, into a beautiful and independent young woman, who is not afraid to go out into the world to pursue her dreams. Always remember your faith in God and your sensitivity for those around you, and you will succeed wherever your life takes you.

Kelli:

It seems like only yesterday your Mom and I watched you get on the school bus for your first day of school. Now you are graduating from high school. You should be very proud of yourself, as we are of you. You worked very hard to accomplish the goals you set for yourself. May the future bring adventure, happiness and success into your life.

LOVE,

Mom, Dad and Trevor

Kelli

This is one of my favorite pictures of you. We were at a restaurant giftshop years ago and we played dress up. You lit up the room, just as you do now with your warmth and vibrant personality. You are as beautiful inside as you are outside. May life be good to you. May you always have health, happiness and much love

Love,

Aunt Sue

Dear Kel,

A friend is someone who you can call and talk to about boys, school, and life; someone you gossip with, but are much more than that. You are my sister.

The day we became friends, we became family. You are such a magnificent person and never let yourself believe anything different. If you can do just one thing for me, it would be never second-guess yourself. Follow your heart and it will tell you where you need to go.

Love always, your sis,
FAY

Lindsay,
The time has finally come; graduation day is near. You thought it would never get here. You have been such a joy through the years. From an adorable, giggly little girl to a caring, thoughtful, intelligent, and beautiful young woman. It is a bittersweet time for us, as we are so proud of you and happy to see you moving on to new things in life, but sad to see our little girl all grown up. We wish you all the luck in the world and know that you will be successful in all that you do.

Brook,

It's hard to believe it's been 18 years! It doesn't seem that long ago that you marched onto the bus for kindergarten. We're so blessed God gave you to us and smile every day because of you. You'll be pleased to see that I didn't choose any pictures that were adorable and tempting-like the bare hinny ones or bath tub shots or toothy grins! Instead, I picked the one with your first 'belly-shirt' and first belly button ring/clamp, your first birthday cake, the shot of you 'doing your homework' on your daily junk mail, and of course, a picture of the beautiful young woman that you've become and we're so lucky to call you our daughter! We're SO VERY proud of you! Keep your head on your shoulders, let nothing stand in your way and be whatever you want to be!! We love you so VERY much!

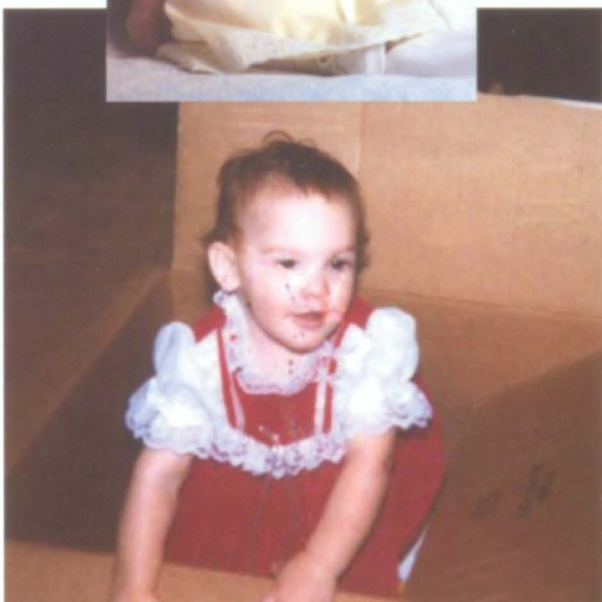

~ Daddy, Mommy and Leah

Stacy,

Matt,

We remember when you were a little boy, one evening we called you to supper and you came to the table all grown up.

Where did the time go?

Suddenly we were to let you go - we will always call you our son, but in our hearts you will always be our little boy.

It is with pride that we have watched you grow into a fine young man. You have always striven for your highest potential, never settling for second-best. We know this dedication will follow you as you begin the next chapter of your life.

May God continue to Bless You Always.

Love,

Mom, Dad and Steve

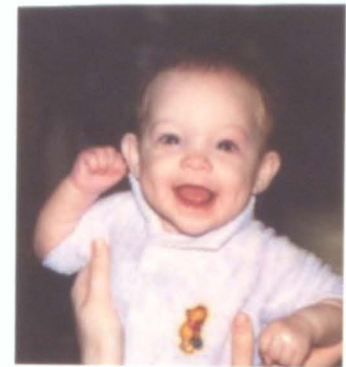

Stephanie,

We are Blessed to have a Daughter like you, who brightens our lives with her smile. Good luck in all of your new ventures!

Live Well * Love Much * Laugh Often

Dad, Mom, Jerry, Nick and Josh

Dear Amanda,

As a baby we cheered for you:

"You can do it; you can crawl, walk and talk."

This seemed to work. You were saying complete sentences at 18 months. You loved to talk and sing. You never stopped.

We called you "our little cheerleader" before you knew what one was. As time went on, we continued to cheer for you. Soon you started to cheer for others. You cheered for so many: your sisters, their friends, your peers, the Girl Scouts, and anyone who needed a kind word. No wonder you became a cheerleader in high school. You had more cheers for others.

It didn't take long, so it seems, that you grew into a beautiful, young woman. Now it is time for you to cheer for yourself. Make yourself proud! But how can your high school years end, without one more cheer from us?

You can do it, now go for it!
You will always be our sunshine!

Choose a wish, find a dream
Pick a wishing star.
Let your hopes and spirits soar
High and free and far.
Reach for the unreachable;
Stretch to touch the sky.
Know no dream you treasure
Is too far away or high.
Believe in the impossible;
Then work and try and do.
For only those who dare to dream
Can make a dream come true!
